OPERA HOUSE COURTROOM, CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Dec. 7.—Cast in the role of villain, Harry Powers, West Virginia Bluebeard, in a theatre for a courthouse went on trial today for the murder of Mrs. Dorothy Lemke, of Northboro, Mass., one of his five known victims.

The prisoner sat quietly beside Sheriff William Grimm in the center of the stage beside the bench of Judge John C. Southern.

He was dressed immaculately in a neatly pressed blue suit.

"I feel fine," Powers told International News Service.

Court On Stage

Powers sat quietly in the spotlight of a thousand pairs of eyes for at least a half hour before Judge Southern ascended the bench.

Only the Judge, lawyers, court officers and [illegible] were located on the stage [illegible] colored proscenium lights [illegible].

Two Thousand Hear "TheMessiah" Sunday

Splendid Performance Given By Local Chorus At Cathedral Sunday

Fund Raised At Gathering Is For Work Of Mayor's Relief Committee

Two commendable things were accomplished Sunday afternoon in the Cathedral when Handel's "Messiah" was presented by one hundred local musicians. A substantial sum was realized for the Mayor's Relief Committee and a genuine contribution was made to the aesthetic side of life. The one will provide necessities for unfortunate people, the other adds to the things that make life worth living.

"The Messiah" has been sung thousands of times by choral societies, and it will be sung thousands more. Hear it as often as you may and yet every presentation brings out some new beauty, some deeper sense of satisfaction than it has before. No human can sit through the Hallelujah Chorus and not go away feeling that his soul has been fed.

Splendid Presentation

There have been larger choruses sing the "Messiah" in New Castle than the one of Sunday, but certainly none that ever gave a more sincere performance. From the time that Samuel Lewis sang the exotic "Every valley shall be exalted" until the last hallelujah of the Hallelujah Chorus had echoed and re-echoed throughout the auditorium, the huge audience, numbering 2000 or more sat enthralled.

Both orchestra and chorus were seated on the stage of the auditorium, with John E. Paton directing. Not many rehearsals were held for the presentation, but any lack of rehearsing was more than offset by the ability of the chorus members. There were veteran musicians on that stage, men and women who gave much of their life to music and

Threats To Japanese Railways North And South Of Mukden Relieved

MUKDEN, Dec. 7.—Japanese expeditionary forces returned today to Hsinmin and Changtu after a series of bandit raids, which relieved threats to Japanese railway connections north and south of Mukden.

The raids were carried out by infantry, supported by machine gun detachments and airplanes and were accomplished without any Chinese casualties, according to Japanese military headquarters here.

Many Captured.

Reports from field commanders said the Chinese west of Hsinmin as well as in the vicinity of Changtu fled as the Japanese approached and many surrendered and were disarmed.

The Japanese also dispersed a number of Chinese troops who crossed from the east side of the Liao river and were attempting to make repairs on the Newchwang-Koupangtze branch of the Peiping-Mukden railway.

In the Changtu region, north of Mukden, the Japanese were apprehensive that Chinese infantry, which had occupied Faukmen, intended to move to Changtu.

All these activities were described at military headquarters here as nothing more than campaigns to maintain order in the railroad zones now under Japanese control and it was declared no steps had yet been taken to prepare for another offensive against Chinchow.

State Legislators Back In Harrisburg For Fifth Week Of Special Session

Conferences Scheduled Today May Iron Out Difficulties, Must Compromise

By LEO V. DOLAN

HARRISBURG, Dec. 7.—With icy winds and a nipping cold adding to the miseries of Pennsylvania's army of jobless, bewildered and harassed legislators today began their fifth week of the special session faced by the realization that no definite move to aid the idle has yet emerged from the general assembly.

Hopes that early enactment of relief measures would follow the alleged "compromise" program, agreed upon by Gov. Gifford Pinchot and senate leaders last week, were fading rapidly in the face of the executive's determined fight for his prosperity bond issue to provide direct relief and passage of a gasoline tax of two cents per gallon for a two year period.

Conferences Scheduled.

Three conferences were scheduled for this afternoon prior to formal convening of the assembly tonight. Four sub-committees of house and senate will meet to continue discussions of the needed new revenue for

Bandits Hold Up Small Ohio Bank

Use Machine Gun And Revolvers In Robbery At Strasburg, O.

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., Dec. 7.—Armed with revolvers and a submachine gun, three bandits today held up John T. Miller, vice-president of the Citizens State bank at Strasburg, five miles north of here, and a girl clerk and fled with 25 bags of paper and silver money and a bag of gold coins.

Amount of the loot was not immediately ascertainable but Miller informed police it would "be plenty".

The bandits entering the bank shortly after it opened. Covering Miller and Miss Frances Kipitzky, the clerk, with their guns they forced them to open the vault. Then, herding Miller and the clerk into a corner, they scooped up the money bags, ran from the bank and sped away in a blue sedan automobile toward Canton.

Elks' Memorial Service Sunday

Tribute Is Made By Dr. Hugh Thomson Kerr Of Pittsburgh

TWELVE NAMES ON YEAR'S HONOR ROLL

Before an audience of Elks and their families and visitors from the outside, New Castle's lodge of Elks, No. 69, at an impressive Memorial service in their lodgeroom last night, honored the sacred memories of once active brothers who have answered the divine summons of the Grand Exalted Ruler of all.

Tribute was directed principally last night to the twelve "absent brothers" whose names have been inscribed on the lodge's roll of honor this year, but simultaneously the lingering memories of those who have departed in other years were refreshed.

The Benevolent Protective Order of Elks sets aside the first Sunday of each December for the Memorial observance. Every Elk lodge throughout the country fittingly honors its dead.

Dr. Hugh Thomson Kerr, renowned pastor of the Shadyside Presbyterian church at Pittsburgh, made the chief address at the service last night.

Speaks On "Memories"

He chose "Memories" as his theme for the evening, terming it something that links us all together. "Memory links the living to the living, the present to the past," he said.

"What could anyone be," asked Dr. Kerr "were it not for memory?"

He spoke of the material things that can easily drift away, such as knowledge, language and the pro-

Contract Let For Dewberry School

Michael Gierling Will Begin Work On New Structure At Once

Contract for the erection of the Dewberry school in Mahoning township was let today to Michael Gierling at his bid of $1428, which was the lowest of three received by the school board last week, following the revision of plans as suggested by Lee L. Driver of the state department.

President Eakin and Secretary McBride of the school board took the plans and bids to Harrisburg last week and after a few minor changes the plans were approved and authority given to let the contract.

Gierling will begin work on the new school building at once, and expects to have it complete before the first of the new year.

No clue has ever been obtained to the incendiary who fired the building.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Control of the House of Representatives formally passed to the Democratic party this afternoon when Rep. Jack Garner of Texas, veteran floor leader of the party in recent sessions, was elevated to the speakership.

It is the first time in thirteen years that the Democrats have been in the saddle in either branch of congress, and the election of the popular Texan was made the occasion for a Democratic jubilee on the floor.

Unusual Atmosphere

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Falling gavels in both houses on the stroke of noon today sped the new 72d congress away on its turbulent career, while outside the capitol, in the broad plaza, a throng of a thousand unemployed workers jeered the police and demanded federal appropriations to provide jobs and food.

Presence of the demonstrators in the plaza, with a Russian-attired band tooting revolutionary airs, gave an unusual atmosphere of tenseness to the opening ceremonies.

The capitol swarmed with police who kept the marchers in order and prevented them from carrying out their announced purpose of "crashing" the doors of both houses with demands for relief. The police were under orders not to "get rough" and do everything in their power to prevent fisticuffs and violence. They appeared to be carrying out their orders well.

Called To Order

The house was called to order by its veteran clerk, William Tyler Page, amid the customary confusion that always prevails in the big chamber. In the senate, it was Vice President Curtis' gavel that started the session. The senate is more se-

Concert, Store Sales Add To Mayor's Fund

Contributions to the mayor's relief fund over the week-end added around $500 to the fund, today's total being $4,226.12.

The largest amount reported was from the Community Chorus concert at the Cathedral Sunday afternoon, which produced $212.83. Jack Gerson contributed 10 per cent of Saturday's receipts from his store, amounting to $44.90, while five per cent received from Whelan's store amounted to $30.

Last week's receipts to the mayor's fund were larger than by any preceding week, approximately $1,000 having been received from various sources.

The total receipts from Saturday's benefit football game, which will be turned over to the school division of the mayor's fund, have not been compiled as yet, but it is believed that around $700 will be received from this source.

Employes of the New Castle postoffice are contributing $585.25 to the mayor's fund, which will be paid in five monthly installments. Postal employes have subscribed a total of $738.25 to charity work, which is being distributed among several different organizations, such as the Community Chest, Salvation Army, etc., the mayor's relief fund receiving the bulk of the money contributed.

Last week's receipts approximated the total which will be needed each week to carry on the work here, namely $1,000. If this sum is added to the fund weekly, the work can be carried on and everyone in need, assisted, it is believed.

The commmittee in charge of finances is desirous of having monthly pledges made, so that they will be able to know just how much they can depend on.

Those who have not already given are asked to fill out the accompanying blank and mail it to City Treasurer L. W. McClung.

Fight Commences To Save Youthful Slayer From Chair

Illinois Men Enlist Aid To Save Seventeen-Year-Old Slayer From Electric Chair

CASE ATTRACTS WIDE ATTENTION

State Ready To Put Russell McWilliams To Death For Killing Conductor

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Dec. 7.—Enlisting the sympathies of juvenile authorities and sociological leaders throughout the country, a determined campaign was launched to prevent the execution of Russell McWilliams, 17-year-old slayer of a Rockford street car conductor.

The youth is scheduled to meet death in the electric chair at Joliet penitentiary one minute after midnight Thursday. He is the youngest person ever to receive the death penalty in Illinois.

Leaders in the battle to save the boy's life tensely waited the decision of Governor Louis L. Emmerson to their appeal that young McWilliams' sentence be commuted to life imprisonment. The Governor promised to render his decision at the State Capitol in Springfield. He and the state board of pardons and paroles have once before refused to commute the youth's sentence.

relief. Reliable reports indicated a majority of members of these committees believed new sources of money were necessary to carry out any relief program.

Following this conference, twenty members of the house were to meet with the governor. Purpose of this meeting was not divulged but it was regarded as a further effort on the governor's part to convince the members that passage of his $35,000,000 prosperity bond measure and the creation of a state unemployment commission to handle distribution of relief funds must be included in any program enacted.

Tempers Sharpened.

The third conference, and perhaps the most significant, brings together 24 members of the house who have consistently advocated an alternate program based primarily on a $10,000,000 appropriation from the general fund to individual poor board districts for direct relief.

Four weeks of non-accomplishment, during which they have been subjected to factional strife and criticism alike by the governor and their constituents, have sharpened tempers of the legislators and increased the general tension here.

Today's conferences may decide what will be done or they may leave the question as undecided as it was four weeks ago—and as it is now.

There's one bright spot. If all of the panhandled dimes are spent that way, the cawfee people should be making money.

Have you noticed how the manner of motorists have changed in the past several years? Not so long ago a heated argument was always in order after two cars bumped together in traffic. Now the drivers quietly get out of their cars, look over the damage, take each other's name and address from license cards and drive on. They don't all take it that easy, but the majority Pa Newc has seen, do.

Out in California they're making sure everyone has a job, or, if not, enough money to keep himself from becoming dependent on the state. The news came today in a letter which Harry Fisher, former resident, penned to central department firemen. The state, it read, has posted guards along highways entering it to stop strangers for this reason. They must either convince them they have a job or money . No use to go to California, then, if you lack both. His letter also told of the low prices of fruit there.

City firemen are getting restless—curious, or something or other. Since Friday afternoon, November 27, there's been no fire alarms. Chief Charles Lynn termed it "most unusual for this time of the year".

HUNGER MARCHERS FAIL IN EFFORT TO ATTEND CONGRESS

mittees were cut down to twelve each.

When the committee assigned to appeal to the senate reached the ground floor entrance to the senate they were stopped and Sergeant-At-Arm David Barry was summoned.

Barry asked Herbert Benjamin of New York, who acted as spokesman, whom they wanted to see. Benjamin replied, "Congress."

Barry said, "That is impossible, but if you want to send up a message, I will take it."

Benjamin demurred. He asserted that this was the day the unemployed has chosen to present their demands upon congress and intended doing so.

Then Barry said they could not come in.

The police then formed a line and forced the marchers committee down the steps. There were no blows, however.

The committees then withdrew for consultation and conference, and a compromise was finally arrived at whereby a committee of three from the unemployed demonstrators were to be allowed inside the Capitol building itself, their movements to be governed by the rules of the Capitol. This, of course, precluded their gaining entrance to either floor, for the rules of the Capitol are very strict on this point.

The committee chosen consisted of Benjamin, a Negro who gave his name as Isaah Hawkins of Pittsburgh, and Wm. F. Dunne, address not given.

TWO THOUSAND HEAR 'THE MESSIAH' SUNDAY

to them the pages of the oratorio were old friends. Their familiarity with the numbers, added to their ability meant a well rounded chorus and their performance Sunday afternoon was just another reason why New Castle is proud of its musicians and music lovers.

Many Solosists

Instead of importing four soloists to handle all the solo numbers, Mr. Paton invited local soloists to participate, giving each one number. It was an excellent idea for not only could the soloists concentrate all their efforts on their one number, but it gave the audience a diversification of solosists. The soloists were Samuel Lewis, Richard E. Johns, Madeline N. Rugh, Russell Rhodes, Helen Queer Baum, Lillian Andrews, Helen Allen, Helen Urmson Felch, Leslie Roberts and Ruth Drescher appearing in the order as set forth.

At the organ was Mary Virginia Patterson. One of the reasons why choruses are successful or failures is found in the musician at the organ and it seems unnecessary to say that the work of Mrs. Patterson went a long way towards the success achieved Sunday. Miss Mary Long, a musical director from the public school system was at the piano and while her part of the work was not so large as that of Mrs. Patterson it was of a quality that guaranteed no let down in the work of the chorus. With these two artists was an orchestra picked from the best orchestral musicians in the city.

Paton Congratulated

At the close of the oratorio, John Esler Paton, the conductor was engulfed in a crowd of music lovers who congratulated him for his stellar work. It was Mr. Paton's first effort in New Castle at the head of a large chorus but this fact could not be detected in his directon It is his idea that the "Messiah" should be presented every year. After Sunday's performance he has a couple thousand people who agree with him, if the same chorus will do it and Paton will direct it.

Midway in the presentation, Rev. G. S. Bennett, pastor of the First Christian Church made an appeal for a generous collection. The total of the collection was not available at the close of the oratorio, but it appeared to be a sum that will aid materially in the work of the Mayor's Relief Committee.

It was well worth while, this chorus of Sunday afternoon. It took people out of the lower strata of life's levels and for a time transported them to the heights. It is to be hoped that it will be an annual affair.

HARD TO PICK JURY FOR KANE

among the sixty prominent citizens summoned as jurors in his trial tomorrow.

Practically everyone in this little city of 6,000, known as a center of the crabflake industry has read about and discussed the drowning of Mrs. Jenny Graham Kane, with whose murder the dignified university of Tennessee professor is charged.

Fixed Opinion

Especially have the sixty local men called for jury duty had occasion to know about the case. They are well informed men of Professor Kane's own walk in life, men to whom the strange events culminating in the professor's arrest two days after Mrs. Kane's funeral would appeal. Further they are men who have lived in or near the home of Mrs. Kane's family and undoubtedly have seen the two in the streets, or heard of them.

If a jury cannot be found among the sixty men who are a cross section of Hampton's professional and business population Judge C. Vernon Spratley will summon men from more remote parts of the county.

Three Arrested In Mixup Over Driving Auto

All Are Turned Over To The State Highway Patrol For Punishment

Shortly before midnight, Andy Shellock of 103 Charter street, reported to the police that his car had been stolen from East Long avenue. The police were on the lookout for the car and about 1:20 a. m. Officers John Golis and James Hagan discovered the car coming down Madison avenue and stopped it.

They found Richard Shellog of 29 Charter street driving it and Pete Gierard riding in the machine. Shellog informed the officers that Shellock had loaned the machine to them to take two girls to Wampum. They informed the officers that Shellock had been under the influence of liquor when he loaned them the car.

The officers found that Shellog had no driver's license and also that Gierard, who had been driving the machine earlier in the evening, was also without a driver's license.

They were taken into custody and their statements also resulted in Shellock, owner of the machine being taken into custody. This morning all three were turned over to the state highway patrol, who will prosecute the two young men found in the machine on a charge of operating a motor vehicle without a driver's license and Shellock on a charge of permitting a person whom he knew to be without a driver's license, to operate his car.

NEED AGGRESSIVENESS ON PROHIBITION

THOUSANDS of residents of New Castle and Lawrence county who believe in the Eighteenth Amendement and law enforcement will be gratified at the aggressive campaign to be staged here during the week to revive the militant spirit of the supporters of this great reform.

Congress is convening today in Washington, and there is every indication that those opposed to the Eighteenth Amendment are to make their supreme effort at the present session. The ground work has been laid for months past, the propaganda efforts have been working overtime, and the question is bound to be a most important one in the present session.

New Castle and Lawrence county citizens should let their representatives at Washington know how they stand on this issue. Congressman Dr. J. Howard Swick, and Senators James J. Davis and David A. Reed are at Washington representing the people of this district.

Write to them. Let them know what you expect of them as your representatives. Too many letters or messages to these men at Washington cannot be sent. And especially those interested in the dry cause should get into action and let them know the sentiment. They'll get plenty of letters from those opposed to the Eighteenth Amendment, it can safely be surmised.

It's a time for action!

THAT BRITISH TARIFF

After a great deal of gleeful howling about the new British tariff on the part of free traders who claimed it would hurt our foreign trade, the excitement has died down. The administration at Washington is of the opinion that the new British tariff will have little if any adverse effect on American export trade. In the first place it is said that the new duties will affect only about one and six tenths of our foreign trade and comparatively a small part only of our trade with Great Britain.

The greater part of Great Britain's imports from the United States consists of raw materials which will be little affected by the new British duties. These raw materials will be made up into British goods and if the British tariff has the effect anticipated, and restores a degree of prosperity to the country, there will be an increased consumption of goods because more men will have jobs, and as a result there will be an increased demand for our raw materials. Tariff or no tariff the British people cannot be expected to buy American products if they are idle and have no money with which to buy. A prosperous Britain with a protective tariff would be better for American exports than a free trade Britain in adversity. Conversely the same thing is true here. A prosperous America, with its workers employed behind a protective tariff, can consume more European luxury goods than a depressed America with no tariff and no jobs for the worker.

The contention of the American free traders that the British tariff was enacted out of spite for our Smoot-Hawley tariff is silly and childish. The British do not do things out of spite, but in an effort to improve conditions in Great Britain. The conservative party over there is traditionally protective just as is the conservative party in Canada. It would be the same if the United States were a free trade nation.

CO-OPERATIVE GIVING

With the approach of the Christmas season all citizens of New Castle will be called upon to give generously to charity. Welfare agencies and other charities are already working out programs for distribution of Christmas baskets, holiday gifts and toys. In addition, many individuals will give money or gifts in other forms to cheer the hearts of poor families, inmates of institutions and other unfortunates.

The Christmas spirit that prompts such generous activities is said to bring more happiness to the heart of the giver than to those who receive. But this does not mean that the giving should be planned to please the giver with little reference to the effect upon the beneficiary. It is well to call to mind at this time that realization of the greatest good from Christmas charity presupposes its administration with intelligence and care. Indiscriminate giving tends to pauperize or embarrass the recipients and results in duplication and waste.

Individual donors and agencies, if they are actuated by the true Yuletide spirit, they try to co-ordinate their activities. Working together they are less apt to miss some of the needy or to overdo the thing.

Organized Christmas charity makes it less possible for a man without a decent pair of pants to draw a silk dessing gown in his Christmas basket.

All Of Us

Is There a Way Home?
The Geese Overhead
People Down Here

By MARSHALL MASLIN

LONELY?

All by yourself in this amazing world? Adrift in the great crowd? Wondering if you'll ever go home, if you'll ever find a chimney corner where you'll be comfortable and there'll be friends who'll take you as you are?

Many of us are like that, at times . . . .Once I read Latin. I mean I "studied" it. And I remember that in Virgil's "Aenid" I came across lines that described a shipwreck. The ship went down and the sailors swam desperately in the high waves. "Rari nantes in gurgite vasto" was the way Virgil put it. "Scattered swimmers in the vast whirlpool" was the way we translated it. "Lone swimmers on the surface of a gray and stormswept sea" was the way I heard a college president translate it freely once upon a time.

Well, sometimes we feel like those lone swimmers struggling for our lives in the cruel waters hoping almost against hope that we'll find firm footing at last. . . Once, looking up into the sky, I saw a flock of geese go south. High above me they went, beating against the wind strongly, keeping their formation surely, honking triumphantly to one another. . . On they went and when they had gone from sight, a lone goose followed after. He was younger or he was weaker, he was all by himself. . . But he knew where he was going. He could not keep up with the strong flock, but he was headed where they were headed. He did not mind.

A boy I used to know kept carrier pigeons. . . .All of us kept pigeons in those days. Runts, Pouters, Tumblers. He specialized in carriers and he'd take them miles away from home and turn them loose, sure that they would reach their loft before he did. . . .And once, far in the country, I saw him release a calm blue bird that fluttered and rose and circled and then seemed to steady his course and then strike due east as surely as if he had been aimed by the boy who owned him. . . He HAD been aimed, but not by the boy. There was something within him some lake of mysterious liquid, some formation of the bones in his little head, some infallible memory that told him the way home.

In our weaker moments we fear there is no such mystery for us, no setting of the course for us. But in our steadier times we believe that we are not lost, we are not lonely, and that we shall head for home at last, like the swimmers in the perilous sea, like the birds in the trackless air. . . And that's a comfort.

ADVANCE INFORMATION

There came a knock at the door. The cottager opened it.

"Good morning," said the shabbily dressed visitor. "Is it here that you are offering a reward for a lost dog?"

"Yes," said the cottager anxiously. "I'm offering ten shillings. Can it be that you have news of my poor little Fido?"

"No, not yet," he replied. "But as I was just going in search of the dog, I thought you might let me have a little something on account."

WHITE FIELDS

In the winter time we go
Walking in the fields of snow;

Where there is no grass at all;
Where the top of every wall,

Every one of them the same—

All across the fields there be
Prints in silver filigree;

And our mothers always know
By the footprints in the snow,

Where it is the children go.

Mrs. Caraway Has Good Will Of Country In New Duties

Only Woman In Senate Believed To Be Equipped For Valuable Service, Without Reference To The Fact That Her Husband Preceded Her

The appointment by the governor of Arkansas of Mrs. Hattie Caraway, widow of Senator Thaddeus H. Caraway, as the temporary successor to the latter's seat in the Senate has attracted attention to the appointee and to the fact that women are gradually looming larger in the legislative field of endeavor.

Speaking of the choice of Mrs. Caraway, the SAN FRANCISCO CHRONICLE holds that "as the first active woman Senator she will have the good will of the whole people." The COLUMBUS OHIO STATE JOURNAL notes that "her State has expressed its pleasure over her appointment and considers her well qualified," and comments: "Her appointment was an interesting recognition of the increasing prominence of women in the nation's political life."

"The presence of Mrs. Felton in the Senate was only a symbol," says the ALLENTOWN MORNING CALL. "The presence of Mrs. Caraway is more positive evidence of the rising tide of women in American political life, and it is not too much to expect that in a decade or so the groups of women in both the Senate and the House of Representatives will be quite large and that they will continue to grow."

"Mrs. Caraway's appointment will justify itself or otherwise, according as she does or does not measure up to the demands of her important post," remarks the PHILADELPHIA EVENING BULLETIN. "No woman really interested in widening the field of the sex in public service would have it otherwise." Considering that she will be the lone woman in the Senate, the ROCHESTER TIMES-UNION thinks: "It is doubtful if Mrs. Caraway will cause a ripple on the surface of the Senate. For that is a jealous institution, where men are supposed to be statesmen, and where no woman has lingered save for a moment heretofore.

Quite in contrast is the opinion of the HOUSTON CHRONICLE, which declares: "The lady from Arkansas will, perhaps, make a more definite impress upon the political consciousness of the nation. In the first place, she has lived at Washington for years and knows the ropes. In the second place she will occupy her senatorial seat long enough to cast important votes on several burning issues. On questions which divide the parties evenly, Mrs. Caraway's presence and vote become of considerable importance."

Turning to the records of the past to point the moral it draws, the CHARLESTON (W. Va.) DAILY MAIL remarks: "One can hardly affirm that a woman would not make an acceptable United States Senator—just merely because she is a woman. Zenobia was both a great woman and a great general. From most ancient times down to the present have come names of women in the most exalted public positions, who illume the pages of history—Semiramis, Cleopatra, Joan of Arc, Maria Theresa, Catherine the Great, Elizabeth and Queen Victoria, to mention only a few."

As to her personality and qualifications, the DAVENPORT DEMOCRAT declares: "All indications point to Mrs. Caraway as being a most sensible woman. Instead of voicing vagaries and theories, she evidently expects to follow in the footsteps of her illustrious husband and carry out his politics to the best of her ability. * * * That Mrs. Caraway is endowed with aptitude and good business judgment is generally conceded." As the FORT WORTH STAR-TELEGRAM puts it, "We venture the statement that no person in all of Arkansas is better able to carry on the purposes and details of the work of former Senator Caraway."

The TOLEDO BLADE states: "Certainly Senator Hattie Caraway deserves, at the beginning of a difficult undertaking, courtesy and help from Democratic and Republican sale Senators alike. She should be given a chance to prove her worth and make good." Recalling that "her energy and capacity have had much to do with creating and maintaining a strong following for her husband in that State," the PROVIDENCE JOURNAL estimates her as "clearly equipped for technical Senatorial success." Noting that in Senator Caraway's death the Senate "has lost a member who was able, courageous and alert, and who, never, by any chance, went to sleep when a party war was brewing," the TEXARKANA GAZETTE declares that "Mrs. Caraway has a reputation for wit equal to that of the late Senator, although likely she will not make as free use of caustic speech on the Senate floor."

As is usual in the case of appointments similar to that of Mrs. Caraway, there is some comment on the "widow" aspect of the selection. "The growing tendency to bestow public office for sentimental reasons is only one of many evidences of a dangerous deficiency in appreciation of the importance of the business of selecting public servants," argues the CHATTANOOGA TIMES, while the CHICAGO DAILY NEWS holds that "public office is still a public trust."

"Unless the feminists see the point of this tendency and overcome it, they will wake up to discover that they have again become mere political appendages to their distinguished husbands, and that would and should distress them mightily," suggests the CHARLESTON (S. C.) EVENING POST. That "the friends of equal suffrage ought to work to put the matter of female representation in the Congress on a little sounder ground," is the contention of the NEWARK EVENING NEWS, while the BALTIMORE SUN insists: "If women are qualified—and many of them are—they ought to have as much opportunity to win public office as men. But they ought not to have a superior opportunity on sentimental grounds alone." The NORFOLK VIRGINIAN PILOT denies that Mrs. Caraway is "entitled to the office merely because it was held by her husband."

The OMAHA WORLD-HERALD declares: "It is the theory of democracy that the public business should be transacted by those who best represent the people. In that scheme there is no room for personal sympathy or plain political expediency."

IMAGINARY TROUBLES

Haven't you found that the things you dread most seldom occur?

Much of your worry is caused by imagination working along alarming lines.

And you are so susceptible to "Presentiments."

Almost everything out of the ordinary which happens to you was preceded by foreboding suggestions, you are heard to say.

However, you know of some alarmingly serious visitations of which had no premonition, they came suddenly and unexpectedly.

Yet you go on worrying over things that may never happen and thus make yourself an easier victim of misfortune.

Worry affects your health, undermines physical and mental equipment.

What have you gained by it?

It is about time you dispelled imaginary troubles and came out of the "seeing a black cat" and "walking under a ladder" superstitions.

As a normal human being you should be above ignorant people who let their minds dwell too much on imaginary conditions which might bring them physical or mental pain.

FEAR

The great god Fear grinned back at me:
"I am the foe men never see.
The hurt they never feel," said he.

"I am the wrong they never bear.
The poison they themselves prepare.
I am the shadow on the stair.

"I have no voice and yet I speak;
No strength and yet I blanch the cheek
And leave the strongest mortals weak.

"I am the blackguard man befriends,
Heeds most, feeds, cherishes, attends
And 'gainst all counsel wise defends.

"I fire no gun, I make no cry,
No lodging place in fact have I.
Yet I'm the countless deaths men die.

"Mine is a humor ghastly grim,
The lamp of reason I can dim,
Though I am nothing but a whim.

"I am man's cruelest, bitterest foe,
Yet pest his door I could not go,
Had he the wit to tell me: 'No'."

Pneumonia Big Factor In Diseases Of Winter, States Doctor Clendening

Actual Mechanism Of Attack Of Germ Affecting Lungs Not Known To Medical Science, Declares Physician

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Pneumonia still is one of the mighty factors in human life. One of the Captains of the Men of Death, "Pilgrim's Progress" called tuberculosis The Captain of the Men of Death, and in that day it was true—it was the most frequent cause of death. Now it has been unseated from its high command. There are several diseases, almost equally responsible for the majority of mortalities. Of these pneumonia is the chief.

It is in many ways a mysterious disease. The cause of it—the actual germ—we have known for many years. Yet how it gets into the body and into the particular part of the body affected—the lungs—or in other words, the actual mechanism of attack, we know virtually nothing. A facile answer is that it is breathed into the lungs. This seems natural, but it does not explain why one whole lobe of the lung is affected while all the remainder of the lung is clear. Or why all the remainder of the lobes of the lungs do not successively become involved with so patent a contagion constantly present in one of them.

It is not contagious from one individual to another. Nurses, doctors and members of the family can be around pneumonia patients day and night and remain unaffected. Yet at certain seasons of the year it will bring down large numbers of the populace one after the other. It would seem as if some change in the body's condition—chemical or physiological—were the only important predisposing cause of pneumonia.

What that predisposing change in the body is we know as little as did Hippocrates 2,400 years ago. Wet, cold and exposure certainly are factors. Alcoholic sprees and lack of plenty of nourishing food likewise. Aside from these, there is mere speculation.

There are several forms of pneumonia, two main ones—lobar pneumonia, in which one entire lobe of a lung is affected (or possibly two entire lobes); and broncho-pneumonia, which affects the terminals of many small air-tubes all over both lungs. Broncho-pneumonia was the sort we encountered in the great influenza epidemic and is the kind which supervenes on measles in children. It is by far the more fatal and dangerous of the two.

As to treatment, there have been innumerable attempts during the past 15 years to establish an effective serum or anti-toxin for pneumonia. All of these developed have been, in my opinion, failures. Many are frequently used; they do no harm; it is possible they may do some good; in pneumonia the physician is willing to try anything that might help.

Rest, good nursing, fresh air and light nourishment are still, however, our mainstays in treatment. The use of oxygen has of late years been made more valuable by the use of the oxygen tent apparatus. This apparatus is to expensive for most private physicians to keep on hand. In every community, therefore, it is the duty of the community hospital to obtain one of these, and to make it available to the particular citizen who needs it.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION
That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.
Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years, and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.
Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, just a healing, soothing vegetable laxative safe and pleasant.
No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They help cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.
If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you should find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets.
Thousands take them every night to keep right. Try them. 15c, 30c, 60c.

MAKERS OF VICKS VAPORUB ANNOUNCE
A New Plan for better "Control-of-Colds"

Made Possible by New Product Based on New Idea for Prevention of Colds

A third of a century ago, Lunsford Richardson, Sr., a North Carolina druggist, developed a new idea in treating colds—and with it Vicks VapoRub. Now, after years of research, Vick chemists have developed a new idea in preventing colds—and with it Vicks Nose and Throat Drops. These two are companion products—they aid and supplement each other. Together, they make possible the Vick Plan for better "Control-of-Colds" in the home.

Trial Offer to Vick Users
We believe that these two products—used as directed in the Vick Plan for better "Control-of-Colds"—will greatly reduce your family's "Colds-Tax" in money, loss of time and health. We believe this so strongly that we have authorized all druggists to sell Vicks Drops to any user of Vicks VapoRub on trial—to refund the purchase price if you do not find the Vick Plan for "Control-of-Colds" more than satisfactory in your home.
VICK CHEMICAL COMPANY
Lunsford Richardson
PRESIDENT

HERE, BRIEFLY, IS THE NEW VICK PLAN:

1. Before a Cold Starts

At that first sneezy, scratchy irritation of the nose or upper throat—Nature's unmistakable warning that you are "catching cold"—use Vicks Nose Drops promptly as directed. Many colds can be checked at this stage and bad colds avoided.

If you catch cold easily, the wise plan is to use just a few Vicks Nose Drops up each nostril after exposure to any particular condition that your own experience tells you is apt to give you a cold—for instance, a night on a Pullman—a dusty automobile ride—over-smoking—over-heated, over-crowded rooms, etc., etc.—and you feel the slightest stuffiness of the nasal passages. Vicks Drops are especially designed to aid the nose—Nature's "preventor" of colds—when over-taxed by such emergencies of our artificial present-day living.

2. After a Cold Starts

At night, massage the throat and chest well with Vicks VapoRub (now available in white "stainless" form, if you prefer). Spread on thick and cover with warm flannel. Leave the bed-clothing loose around the neck so that the medicated vapors arising can be inhaled all night long. During the day—any time, any place—use Vicks Nose Drops as needed for ease and comfort. (If there is a cough, you will like another new Vick product—a Cough Drop actually medicated with ingredients of Vicks VapoRub.)

This gives you full 24-hour treatment and without the risks of too much internal "dosing," which so often upsets the digestion—especially of children—and lowers body strength at a time when Nature most needs it to resist disease. Don't "dose" colds except on your doctor's advice.

WHAT DO YOU KNOW ABOUT 1732 GEORGE 1799 WASHINGTON?

What name did the Indians give George Washington?

When and where did Washington fight his first battle?

ANSWERS

Conotacarious. This name was first given to George Washington's great-grandfather, John Washington, the emigrant from England, who also was a colonel of Virginia militia. It meant "Devourer of Villages." Young George fell heir to the title when the Indians learned his identity. His communications with the Red Men were always signed, George Washington Conotacarious.

At the Great Meadows, in 1754, with a French detachment under Jumonville. He was only 22 years old and the fight resulted in a victory for him.

The Happy-Go-Lucky Are Seldom Happy, And Seldom Lucky

THERE are women who say, "Oh, I can't be bothered with all this budgeting and counting pennies and tracking down low prices. Life's too short to be bothered with thrift."

Now all this sounds very gay and very carefree. But, as a matter of fact, the speakers are anything but gay—anything but carefree. Thriftless spenders are usually worried and careworn. They are always doing without the little luxuries which their thrifty neighbors are well able to afford.

And, nine times out of ten, their thrifty neighbors are regular A & P customers... Whether they are women who have to save money, or whether they are women who know that it is intelligent to save money.

Culbertson And Lenz Ready For Tussle On Bridge Table Tonight

Contract Bridge Experts Will Battle It Out To See Which System Is Best

Will Play 150 Rubbers—Each Play Will Be Recorded And Preserved

(Editor's Note: Following is the first of a series of stories on the Culbertson-Lenz match by Josephine Culbertson, wife of Ely Culbertson, originators of the approach-forcing system of contract bridge. The match will begin this evening. Mr. and Mrs. Culbertson will oppose Sidney S. Lenz and Oswald Jacoby.)

By
MRS. JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON
World's Greatest Woman Bridge Player.
Written especially for International News Service.
(Copyright, 1931, by International News Service.)

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—A great deal of importance is being attached to the Culbertson-Lenz match by the bridge players of the country because it is a test of two contract systems—the approach-forcing (Culbertson) system and Mr. Lenz's one-two-three version of the official system. Except for this and the awe-inspiring trappings, the match will be, in almost every respect, just a bridge game.

Strange Arent.

The differences will be in a few non-essential details. Radio announcers and microphones, leased telegraph wires, press rooms for the numerous reporters and three official referees together with three honorary referees, will convert my drawaing room temporarily into an arena for a contest of apparently national significance. So far as the one woman who is playing in the match is concerned, however, the various sessions will be a series of bridge games held in my own home.

The match will be played in a series of 150 rubbers exactly the same as any game, except for one unimportant particular.

Instead of playing the cards in the middle of the table, with the tricks stacked the cards will be played in front of each player. If Mr. Culbertson and I win a trick, we turn our cards face down in front of us with the long way of the card pointing in our direction. If we lose the trick, the long way of the card is toward our opponents.

Each Play Recorded.

The cards will be kept carefully in the order of their play and when the 13 tricks have been played, the hand will then be turned over to clerks to be copied and preserved. Each of the thousand and one hands however will become a record for scientific analysis. Along with the record of the cards held in each hand, there will also be preserved a record of the bidding and play.

I suppose everyone imagines that I am thrilled by this wonderful match. I am not.

Last Big Match.

On the eve of this, the most important match in which I have ever played, the thing which pleases me most is a promise which Mr. Culbertson has just made to me.

My fondest hope has been that instead of devoting his time exclusivly to teaching the world the mechanics of bridge, he would give his splendid mind where it is needed most, to teaching our children the true mechanics of life.

At least he has promised me that this will be his last big match!

Fire Captain Dies In Flames

Warren, O., Department Leader Loses Life Saving Automobile

WARREN, O., Dec. 7.—Stunned by the explosion of an automobile gasoline tank, Captain Leroy Bartholomew, 36, of the Warren fire department, was trapped and burned to death in a $15,000 fire which destroyed the Warren Auto Sales building two miles west of here last night.

Bartholomew and Firemen Harold Logan and Liden Allen had entered the burning building to try to save a car. Batholomew went behind the car to try to free it where it was wedged against the door. The flames flared up, however, and all three firemen turned to flee. Logan and Allen escaped, but as Bartholomew ran around the car, a gasoline tank burst and he was thrown to the floor, stunned. Flames swept the sales room, surrounding Bartholomew and cutting off rescue.

Hitler Retires To Headquarters

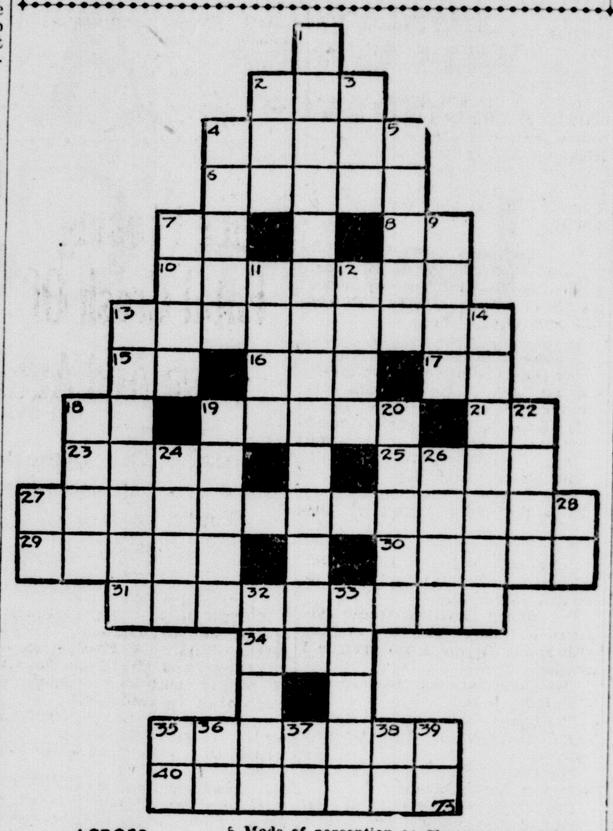

Adolf Hitler, Asserts That Fascists Will Soon Control German Government

(International News Service)

BERLIN, Dec. 7.—Adolf Hitler, leader of the National Socialist, retired today to his headquarters at Munich, apparently well satisfied with the furore he has precipitated in the press and political circles by his confident prediction that the Fascists will shortly be in control of the German government.

Despite the strong impression created abroad by Hitler's bold statements regarding German foreign policy, and his outspoken criticism of the present government, no immediate political upheaval was expected.

LOOKING BACK

IN NEW CASTLE

Recent items concerning the seventh ward, former Mahoningtown, in this column, resulted in there being presented a copy of the paper presented by Mrs. J. C. (Della Brock) Raney at a meeting of the Reading Circle on the subject of "New Castle As I Have Known It", with special reference in this instance to the seventh ward. The historical references in the article make it of interest. It follows: "In 1925 New Castle celebrated her one hundredth anniversary. Those of you who have read her past history in the souvenir program then published, or witnessed the pageant given in the junior high school, are familiar with her years of progress. To write of New Castle as I have known it I must naturally write of that part of the city known as the seventh ward, a part of New Castle with which many outside of that ward are not at all familiar. I go back to the time of my early school days, when that part of the city was known as Mahoningtown, a pretty little village of a few hundred inhabitants, situated near the junction of the Shenango and Mahoning rivers. The town was cut directly through the center by the cross-cut branch of the Ohio canal, a waterway from Rochester, Pa., to Cleveland, O. The little town of a dozen or two homes was built mostly around three sides of the square, the canal being the fourth side, just where the two great trunk lines, the New York Central and the Baltimore and Ohio railroads now pass through the city. The town had its "Main Street" just as had other small towns. To be historically correct, I should say, two of them, for a street bordering either side of the canal, with buildings on one side for a distance of two or three squares, formed an important section of the town. Some of these houses are still standing, but it is hard to imagine them to have been the palatial homes (as we thought) of Mahoningtown's leading citizens. There were several places along the canal of special interest to the children, and some grownups, too, I imagine One of them was the "Basin" a crescent shaped extension of the canal reaching into the square Here the day boats tied up for the night or repairs. To the children the arrival of a boat was the cause for more or less excitement, for occasionally a good natured captain would allow us to walk the gangplank and board the boat and look around. And what thrills we got as we peaked into the windows or climbed to the hatchway and viewed the town from that point of vantage. Just east of the square a few hundred feet was a three-story grist mill, a building that had a great attraction for the children. It was a joy to get inside and play, but the thing we liked best was to crowd around one of the east windows where we got a good view of the great overshot wheel as it turned steadily around, furnishing the power for the grinding of grain. Watching the cascades of water falling from the big wheel was a great delight to us, as we could follow the water out into the mill race and on down to the river.

Tuesday—More About Mahoningtown.

Photos Of New Castle Of Years Ago Show Many Details Of Great Interest

Time blots out vivid memories quickly and often nothing but an old photograph can bring familiar old scenes to the mind. Old timers who have seen an old framed photograph recently discovered by Paul Allen of South Croton avenue, have found it hard to realize that New Castle has changed so in the past half century.

It is a picture of the corner of North Jefferson and Washington streets—the present location of the Y. W. C. A. building. But only true old timers can recognize the place. It has little resemblance to the present appearance, the only buildings shown in the picture which are standing yet being the entrance to White Hall and the Dana building.

The streets were of cobblestone construction. A stone house, owned by a Mr. Watson in 1872 said rented by Mr. Rohrer for a gun store, stood on the site of the present Y. W. C. A. Mr. Rhorer paid 15 dollars a month for the place, and a Judge Hazen collected the rent, it is said.

That place was known as the "old stone corner" and old timers believe that it was erected in 1812. This belief comes because of the story that the walls have been built two or three feet high when the soldiers marched through to Erie to take part in the famous War of 1812. The story was that the soldiers sat on the wall of what later became the stone house.

Next to that building the picture shows Mrs. Ray's restaurant, Mr. Morgan's bakery and the Raney drug store. Can you remember any of these establishments?

Another interesting picture in Mr. Allen's possession is that of Room 3, Central school, taken on October 28, 1890. Central school known as Reynoldstown school, is now called Aiken school.

The little boys in the picture wore coats buttoned to their necks, with carefully sewed tucks in front. The girls sported pig-tails, and wore waists and skirts of calico and plaid

Still another picture of interest shows the old First Presbyterian church at the corner of North Jefferson and Falls streets—a white brick structure, and one familiar to the older citizens of this city. It was later replaced by a much larger church.

Seven Injured In Bombing Outrage At Philadelphia

House And Store Of Man Bombed—Salvo Of Shots Fired—Police Are Probing

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 7.—Seven persons today were suffering injuries received when terrorists bombed the house and store of John Di Christopher here after firing a salvo of shots into the building last night. The bombing, following immediately on the fusillade, rocked the neighborhood and shattered scores of windows.

Di Christopher, a semi-invalid for the past ten years, was at dinner with his wife and family, his father-in-law, Anthony Chiarelli and a guest. All were cut and bruised when the blast occurred, smashing windows in the house and rocking it on its foundation.

No one could give police any reason for the bombing or the pistol attack.

COUNTY AUDITOR WOUNDED BY SHOT WHILE BUTCHERING

BUTLER, Pa., Dec. 7.—James C. Barr, of Petersville, member of the board of Butler county auditors, had a narrow escape from serious injuries yesterday when he was accidentally shot in the leg by his brother-in-law, William Fair. He was able to move about today, however, in spite of a painful bullet wound in his lower leg.

Barr was helping with the family butchering, and Fair was holding a rifle that was being used for shooting hogs, when the weapon in some unknown manner was accidentally discharged, ripping a groove about two and a half inches long in the county official's leg.

Besides being a guest artist with the Chicago company and the Philadelphia Grand Opera company, Thomas this season is booked for numerous concert and radio performances. It is estimated he will have traveled 29,700 miles before the season is ended.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Salvation Army Fund Reaches Total Of $2000

Report Meeting This Evening At The Headquarters In Y. W. C. A. Building

Salvation Army fund for maintenance and charity work in the community for the coming year was today announced as having reached the $2,000 mark over the week end or just one-third the amount asked for.

The increase over the week end was due to pledges by members of the Greenwood M. E. church for $100 and an increase in pledges from the Simpson M. E. church members from $25 to $75 and a number of scattering pledges.

The men and women workers will hold a report meeting tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the headquarters and the workers will be served with doughnuts and coffee. It is hoped that the reports to be made this evening will very materially increase the campaign total.

Members of the committee canvassing have been receiving encouragement in their approach to the business and professional men of the city and as a result next Friday will be known as Salvation Army day as a result of the co-operation of a number of merchants of the city. Some of the stores are reported as planning to give a certain percentage of their sales on that day, while in one instance a chain store organization plans to give a cent a loaf on every loaf of bread sold that day.

Pastors of the New Wilmington churches are arranging for a union mass meeting next Sunday evening at that place in the interests of the Army, during which the pictures of the Salvation Army home for children at Bellevue will be shown.

Rotary Sponsors Park Project

Would Have Recreation Spot Created At Site Of Dean Park

Long-entertained visions of a well-equipped recreational center for New Castle's youth and others who look for relaxation in a community-maintained park, grew increasingly brighter at noon today when the local Rotary club took definite action to sponsor such a project.

A sketch for the proposed playground and athletic center, already prepared, was presented for the Rotarians to inspect at today's luncheon in The Castleton.

The site for the proposed park would be the Dean park property, donated to the city for such a purpose some time ago. It would be 1,000 feet long and its width would vary from 100 to 400 feet.

Six tennis courts, a baseball diamond, two basketball courts, a playground and a wading pool for small children and a number of other recreational facilities would be provided, once the project materializes.

President L. B. Round intends to name a committee of Rotarians shortly to direct the support which will be exerted behind the park movement.

Action of the club to sponsor the Dean park improvement came after the matter had been presented by Grant Waddle, chairman of the club's boys' work committee. It received the favorable commendation of a large number of the clubmen.

Today's meeting, devoted strictly to business, brought the customary monthly committee reports. President Round presided.

Every club member, before he left the meeting room, penned a cheery not to Dr. W. Charles Wallace, former Rotarian here, now confined to a hospital in the New England states.

Dr. Frederick Taylor, Pulaski, was a special guest today.

Thomas Moore, new superintendent of transportation for the Pennsylvania Power company, became a new member today.

Mayor William H. Gillespie today stated that the mayor's relief committee had received from Jack Gerson, $44.90, which represented a certain percentage of his Saturday business receipts. The money will be reported to the committee at their next session.

Prince Nicholas Has Renounced All Rights, Will Remain With Wife

Prince Will Go Into Exile In France Rather Than Give Up Beautiful Bride

Plans To Re-marry In France Due To Ceremony Having Been Annuled In Rumania

(International News Service)

BUCHAREST, Dec. 7.—Preparing to go into exile with his bride, the former Mme. Jana Lucia Deletj, Prince Nicholas today renounced his membership in the Roumanian royal family and all his constitutional rights.

The Prince's decision to leave Roumania rather than give up his bride was made known in a letter to the minister of justice.

His renunciation of all his royal rights followed upon a decree by the Roumanian supreme court annulling his marriage to Mme. Deletj because "proper legal formalities had not been observed."

The marriage was opposed and annulled by the Prince's brother, King Carol, on the ground that it was illegal for a member of the royal family to marry a commoner.

Prince Nicholas will leave within a day or two for France or Switzerland with his bride, planning to go through another marriage ceremony to take the place of the one annuled in Roumania.

Clara Bow Takes Celebration Over From School Team

(International News Service)

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Dec. 7.—Clara Bow, the screen's "It" girl, stole the limelight from a football championship celebration today. While Las Vegas residents rejoiced over the local high school's annexation of the state title, their talk was dominated by the appearance at the championship game of Miss Bow, wearing a thin gold wedding ring.

The actress was the mistress of ceremonies at the contest from which the Las Vegas eleven emerged victorious over the Lovelock team by a score of 34 to 0.

Attention of fans was divided between the teams and Clara, and Clara got most of it.

Clara and her husband, Rex Bell, the wealthy screen actor and cattle ranch owner, posed for pictures between the half with members of the two football teams.

"I'm not married yet," Clara laughingly told International News Service, "but Rex and I intend to get married soon."

The four were John Habib, 508 Locust street; Martin McKittrick, 709 Locust, and James and Hugh Kennedy, both of 402 West Lincoln avenue.

Blind To Study Beside Normal Pupils, New Plan

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Dec. 7—Education of blind boys and girls, or those with defective vision, may now be carried on in the same school room with normal children, instead of in segregated groups.

Plans for this have been worked out in the Chicago public schools by Dr. Frank G. Brumer, in charge of the education work for the "poor vision" students, and John B. Curtis, supervisor of the blind of this city, and himself a blind man.

The schools are making every effort to save whatever sight may be left in children with poor vision and is having remarkable results Mr. Curtis says. He estimates that an average of one child in every thousand should be in a sight-saving class.

These classes are conducted in rooms where indirect lighting is employed, where desks, walls, blackboards and even the books and papers are specially tinted to prevent glare. Books are printed in large type and the teacher reads much of the lesson material to the pupils.

Often after a year or two of this special treatment the child's eyes are so strengthened that he can go into classes with children of normal vision.

Helps To Bring Benefits To County Farmers Thru Federal Check

Lawrence county's farmers, along with other agriculturalists the country over, will benefit from a cooperative farm survey which the U. S. post office and agricultural departments are just completing, Postmaster Edwin Crawford announced today.

Friendship Street Young Man Takes Machine To Get A Ride And Wrecks It

Saturday afternoon, H. A. McCormick of 821 Fulkerson street, reported to the police that his machine had been stolen from the vicinity of the Taggart stadium.

About the same time a report was received that a machine had wrecked a couple of buildings in the south side district. Detectives John Young and Officer M. J. Young on investigating the auto accident, found that the machine was the one stolen at the stadium and that George Angelo, 19, of 308 Friendship street, had been driving it.

Clarion County Town Founded By Ancestor Of Local Residents

Over in Clarion county, where so many New Castle hunters went this season, there is a quaint little mining town named Kissinger. It is located on the Allegheny river, three miles west of Rimersburg and eighteen miles from East Brady.

Although of interest to everyone who has been in that district, because of the history of its founding, it is of special interest to local people for New Castle is the home of several of the founder's ancestors.

The little settlement was named for Jacob Kissinger, a mill-wright from Germany, who came to Clarion county and built a flour mill there in the year 1790. The mill was in operation until 26 years ago, with Richard Kissinger, an heir, in charge. Six years ago it was torn down, the grinding stones and hoppers carried away, and the dam was put in use for an electric power plant reservoir. Fifty new houses have been erected and Kissinger has become a thriving little coal mining center.

Veterans Of Foreign Wars Make Another Appeal To Residents

WILL REPAIR BROKEN AND SOILED TOYS

Only two weeks and three days remain until Christmas is here, and unless the citizens of New Castle respond more generously to the appeal of the Harry L. McBride post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, for toys, many kiddies will be missed at Christmas time.

F. L. Wimer, chairman of the committee, makes an urgent appeal today for discarded toys of all kinds. The Vets will repair all broken toys and paint up those that need renovating. Those who have toys to contribute are asked to call D. J. Davis, custodian of the Legion Home Association building, phone 9068; Jack LaRue, commander of the V. F. W., phone 8097-R 12; and Mrs. Evelyn Woods, president of the Ladies' Auxiliary, phone 2837-J.

Arrangements have been made to call for all toys which cannot be brought in by the donors.

In addition to members of the post, troops 15 and 17, Boy Scouts, are aiding in the movement and the Ladies' Auxiliary of the post is also taking an active part.

Many pathetic letters are being received by the post telling of the distress experienced by many New Castle families, who state that Santa Claus will not visit their home this year.

The public is invited to come to the rooms that are being maintained by the V. F. W. for the collection and renovation of all toys received. These rooms are located in Apple Way, just off Washington street, and are rapidly being filled with a varied assortment of toys, dolls, games, etc., which are no longer wanted by other children.

"Dream Slayeress" May Start Fight In Court Today

Mrs. Evelyn Maradrer, 45, May Go To Trial At Kingwood, W. Va., Today

(International News Service)

KINGWOOD, W. Va., Dec. 7—Mrs. Evelyn Haradrer, 45 year old "dream slayer" of Cecil F. Michael, today was scheduled to go on trial in circuit court here on a charge of first degree murder unless defense attorneys are granted a change of venue.

It was believed that counsel for the woman would demand a change of venue when deputy sheriffs who investigated the case admitted that had their arrival been delayed only a few minutes following the shooting the woman might have been hanged to satisfy mob vengeance.

Shortly after the shooting, Mrs. Haradrer was said to have told Coroner H. Foster Hartman that she shot the postmaster and general merchant because, "He said things about me." She was also reported to have told officers she received a "message in a dream" to slay Michael.

Defense attorneys succeeded in obtaining an insanity hearing for the woman when they entered a general plea of insanity. A jury found the woman sane.

Following the verdict of the sanity jury, defense counsel moved for a new trial but Judge A. G. Hughes refused the motion and set the trial date for today.

OIL CITY, Pa., Dec. 7.—Oil City residents today were watching with unusual interest progress of the Lenz-Culbertson bridge matches beginning in New York City tonight for the father of Ely Culbertson, proponent of the approach-forcing system of contract bridge, was a native of Oil City.

Many years ago Almon Elias Culbertson, father of the noted bridge player, and his brother, Orie Culbertson, left Oil City for Russia, where they were eager to profit from oil drilling experience gained in the Pennsylvania crude field.

In the land of the former czar Almon and his brother became wealthy. The former married the daughter of a Cossack chief.

Later, in the turbulent days of the revolution the Culbertson brothers lost their property and wealth, which was taken over by the Soviet-ized peasantry.

Ely Culbertson is a brother of Sascha Culbertson, the noted violinist. Two half-brothers and a half sister of the bridge star's father reside here, also.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

Dr. Myers Discourses On Twins

Two Types Babies Born At Same Time Are Explained

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D. Head Division Parental Education, Cleveland College, Western Reserve University.

About two per cent of all children born are twins. Twin pairs are of two types. In one type, both members of the pair may or may not be of the same sex. They begin from two fertilized eggs that happen to be fertilized at the same time. In the parental life each occupies its own separate fetal sac and draws nourishment from a separate placenta. After birth they resemble each other only as do any other children with the same father and mother.

Of the other type of twins, both members are always of the same sex. Always they have the same color of eyes and hair, and resemble each other very closely in their features, though they may differ considerably in body size. During their emryonic life they are carried in the same fetal sac and their umbilical cords draw nourishment from the same placenta.

To quote from Dr. Paul T. Wilson of the Institute of Child Welfare of the University of California: "For obvious reasons the actual process of their origin has never been observed in man, but fortunately nature has furnished us with a comparable phenomenon in an animal that is easily available. The armadillo has four young at birth, and in appearance these young are so like one another at birth as to be considered identical.

"Close study has been made of their development from the moment of their conception until they are fully formed young. These investigations have shown that only one egg is fertilized, but in the early stages of development this single embryo divides into two, and these in turn divide again, so that in fact there are two sets of twins, all from a single fertilized egg. Most embryologists agree that much the same thing at times occurs in man . . .

"In most cases anyone familiar with the structure of the embryonic membrane can tell at birth whether twins are of the identical or the fraternal type." . . .

To quote further from Wilson: "Popular belief is that twinning is a very strong family trait, that members of a twin pair usually beget twin children. However, the data of a number of careful investigators show relatively few members of twin pairs who were also pairs of twins. . . . The United States birth records show that older mothers tend to have a higher percentage of twin children. Apparently multiple births are more common among the north European than among the Mediterranean peoples."

Whereas about 5 per cent of the total population are left-handed, among twins the rate is about 13 per cent. Most investigators think this due in some way to the halving of the original embroyo; in one of the new individuals the dominance of the right side is retained and in the other it is transferred to the left side.

The Institute of Child Welfare of the University of California has been making an extensive study of twins of school age. The results of their study should be of great interest to all of us. Dr. John Anderson directed a study of twin infants at the Institute of Child Welfare of the University of Minnesota. Among the things he discovered was that twins develop speech somewhat later than non-twins, since perhaps they have less need of speech in their early years than do siblings.

Christmas Seals Furnish Money Battle Disease

Every Person Has An Opportunity Of Having A Part In This Work

Sale of Christmas seals in Lawrence county under the auspices of the Lawrence County Tuberculosis Society is now on in full forces. The sale this year marks the twenty-ififth anniversary of the sale of these little seals to furnish the sinews of war in battling the dread disease of tuberculosis, which not so many years was causing the death of untold thousands and is still one of the principal causes of death of many people each year.

The necessity of combating the disease is just as important as when the fight against it was started many years ago and it is especially necessary this year because the menace of tuberculosis is being increased by the depression. Unemployment and lower incomes, with the accompanying undernourishment and the mental and physical stress experienced by many persons provide fertile ground for tuberculosis. The present time is a particularly dangerous one for children.

Every person in Lawrence county can help this battle against tuberculosis at a very small expense. Most of the people have received packages containing 100 of the little seals for which they are to return a dollar.

This dollar will be one of the best Christmas gifts that any person can give, because it will be devoted to the battle against the disease that is so harmful to so many people.

The returns from the package sent out are coming in, but they could be much greater and when it is remembered that the seals are attractive and useful in decorating and sealing Christmas packages, every person will realize that they are helping themselves as well as others.

MY NEW YORK

BY JAMES ASWELL

By Central Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—Streets of New York (addenda for a comprehensive volume):

There's Broad street, one of the narrowest in town, which used to be intersected by a canal. A commentator somewhere has remarked that the only city in the world which will never yield its canals to growth is Venice.

There's Maiden Lane, the diamond center, where mousy little men scurry to and from into and out of Broadway, their pockets heavy with hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of uncut stones. Are most diamond-setters near-sighted because of thir work, or are they diamond-setters because they are near-sighted? Maiden Lane is one of the last citadels of romance in a skyscraper town, appearing in every detective story magazine.

There's West street, which, of course, faces the North river. Here sailors and longshoremen swagger—and it may interest you to know that the Longshoremen's union is one of the most powerful of the labor organizations. West street brings home the fact that chewing tobacco still has its devotees—with gaudy signs blaring the praises of "Fair Maid," "Ship Dream" and "Faithful Lover" plug.

There's Shinbone alley, which isn't an alley at all, any more than McDougal alley is.

IN ORDER

Statistics bore me. Still, the industries of a town ought to give some index to its character (or ought they?). Anyway, when I dug out the order of importance of the businesses which occupy the millions, I was faintly astonished, without know exactly why.

Here they are. The clothing industry leads. Next (hurray) follows the printing trade, including books, newspapers and so on. Surjously then come lace goods and millinery. Then bread and baking products. Then furs. After that, slaughtering and packing, to be tagged by tobacco, knit goods, boots, shoes and finally gas!

All right. But what did you expect?

SMALLEST

Last night I trespassed again on the tiniest parcel of real estate in town. It is at the corner of Seventh avenue and Christopher street, and measures 2 feet 1 inch by 2 feet 3 inches. Properly deeded and registered, it belongs to an old estate and resulted from a surveyor's error.

Not far away is the saloon in which John Masefield labored as a bartender's assistant. The present gentlemen in attendance declare they have never heard of him, although one of them remembers "a guy named Moosefelt, if that's the same. He was a customer, though."

Piles Go Quick

Without Salves or Cutting

Itching, bleeding, protruding piles are caused by bad circulation of the blood in the affected parts. The parts become weak, flabby, almost dead. Only an internal remedy can remove the cause—that's why salves, suppositories and cutting fail. Dr Leonhardt's prescription, HEM-ROID, succeeds because it removes congestion, restores circulation, heals and strengthens the diseased parts. HEM-ROID has such a wonderful record of quickly ending even piles of long standing, that Eckerd's and New Castle Drug Co. says one bottle of HEM-ROID Tablets must end your pile agony or money back.

BUTLER, Pa., Dec. 7.—Within two weeks 35 miles of state-built township highways will be completed in Butler county at a cost of about $125,000, according to M. T. Ekas, county road superintendent.

About 650 men have been engaged on the county road building this fall, preference being given to men with families, Mr. Ekas said. Construction of 13 more miles of connecting road will be commenced soon.

CHEMIST FINDS

DOPE

IN MANY COUGH SYRUPS!

DOPE? Yes—dope! Opium. Ether. Chloroform. Morphine. Many old-fashioned cough syrups rely on these for their results.

But—why take chances? Why risk these drugs? Why fool around with dope—particularly with CHILDREN'S coughs?

Smith Brothers' Triple Action Cough Syrup contains NO DOPE. Not a trace of it! It doesn't have to rely on dope. Its "Triple Action" (a scientifically approved principle) stops even a stubborn cough quickly and SAFELY. "Triple Action" does three things: (1) soothes the throat, (2) loosens phlegm, (3) clears air passages.

Smith Brothers' has no bitter dope taste! Children actually like to take it! Only 35c.

Household's charge is less

One of the chief reasons for borrowing from Household is the low cost—considerably less than the rate provided by the Small Loan Laws of this state, on loans above $100. You get your entire loan in cash and there are no extras for anything. Charges are figured only on the balance due and for the length of time the loan is kept, which may be twenty months or less. We will help you budget your income so as to repay as quickly as possible.

Other advantages of the Household Plan are its dignity and convenience. Only husband and wife sign, and your employer, merchants, landlord, or friends aren't asked about you. Loans are made quickly and courteously.

Household managers are always glad to give more information without obligating you. Phone, write, or come in.

Detroit Police Hold Four Boys Due To Killing

Four Youngsters Confess To Slaying Another Boy For Incurring Wrath

GUN WIELDER HAS CONFESSED

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Dec. 7.—Four young members of a newsboys' club were in police custody today as a consequence of the "revenge" killing of Joe Przystas, 15.

One of the boys under arrest, Stanley Orlenski, 14, leader of the club, admitted wielding the rifle with which young Przystas was shot, according to police. The Orlenski youth, however, said he shot only to scare young Przystas who had incurred the newsboys' club's wrath by having beaten one of its members.

Besides the club's leader, police were holding Longon Jendzyenski, 12, Jose Sawicki, 14 and Anthony Mazur, 14, who is said to have received the beating which caused the club to decide on a vengeance expedition to young Przystas' home where the shooting occurred.

Backfire Of Motor Frightens Youths

Occupants Of Stolen Car Think Police Are Using Guns

BUTLER, Pa., Dec. 7.—Apparently believing police had opened fire on them, two youths fled from the stolen car they were driving last night when four sharp reports sounded from backfire in the exhaust pipe.

The car, stolen earlier from W. J. Graham, 340 East Jefferson street, was being driven without lights on North Monroe street when noticed by Motorcycle Patrolmen Charles J. Miller and Carl Bielstein.

"Turn on your lights!" Miller and Bielstein shouted after the car.

The driver obediently turned the swtich, at the same time tramping on the accelerator. Backfire resulted.

Without braking the car, the driver and his companion opened the doors and leaped. As they disappeared in the darkness the car lurched over the sidewalk at College street and came to a stop.

Miller and Bielstein chased the fleeing figures, but they escaped.

At headquarters it was said two suspects were to be brought in for questioning. Names of the pair were withheld.

William Milsom, 1701 Delaware avenue, who reported his machine stolen Friday evening from a driveway on Euclid avenue near Albert street, was notified over the week end by the police of the recovery of his car on Morris street. A Mr. Walker of South New Castle Boro found the car as he was on his way to work and notified the police. Officers Dukes and Hanna recovered the machine, which was held by the police until claimed by the owner.

Margaret Brenner Will Preside On Wednesday Night

Robert C. Ropp, National Chairman Of Allied Youth, Will Speak

Miss Margaret Brenner will act as toastmistress at the banquet of representative young people of New Castle and vicinity to be held Wednesday evening, December 9, at six o'clock in the First M. E. church in connection with the meetings being held here for a three day period under the auspices of the Allied Forces for Prohibition.

Robert C. Ropp, national chairman of Allied Youth, a unit of the Allied Forces for Prohibition, will make the address of the banquet. Mr. Ropp's discussion will center about the plans and purposes of the Allied Youth Movement, which is reported to be spreading rapidly throughout the country.

Councils of Allied Youth embracing every existing organization of Protestant, Catholic and Jewish young people, are being established in all sections of the country. Allied Youth Libraries containing literature, printed and distributed by every dry youth organization and senior organization, as well as the most authentic books available on the subject, will be encouraged. County rallies and conferences will be a part of the Allied Youth program.

The most important activity at the present time is the youth enrollment, now in progress. The enrollment card declares that the signer believes in the constitution and pledges himself or herself to uphold the Eighteenth Amendment, doing all in their power to further the cause of public morals.

At a conference of young people called by Dr. Daniel A. Poling in Pittsburgh on April 13, 1931, the crusade was organized. Its national leaders are Robert C. Ropp of Boston, chairman; Elizabeth Cooper of Indianapolis, Kenneth Colman of Washington, Ruel Wolford of Pittsburgh, Harry Jackson of Philadelphia, Tina Simon of New York City, vice chairman, and Count C. Cruea of Pittsburgh, treasurer.

Mr. Ropp comes as a member of another unit of the Allied Forces for Prohibition, known as the Allied Campaigners. MAYTAG

and the price is only

$79.50

The New MAYTAG . . . with quality features you'd expect on a much higher priced machine . . . constructed to take the punishment of years of hard use . . . every hidden part made and assembled with painstaking care . . . in short, typical Maytag quality at the price of a "second choice" make of washer.

This New Maytag cleanses by the famous Maytag Gyrafoam method—fast, positive yet gentle. The Gyratator is counter-sunk to the level of the tub bottom—an extra quality feature that saves wear and tear on clothes. There is the "sediment zone"—another Maytag development which prevents dirt from being washed back into clean clothes. Extra large rolls on the wringer gently remove the last vestige of dirt—but save the buttons.

And the New Maytag is quiet. It stays quiet. Because the moving parts are so carefully made and put together that they don't wear out and get loose. That quietness is a sign of the built-in quality that makes this New Maytag such an amazing value at the price.

Visit the Maytag showroom and prove to yourself that this is the kind of a washer value you've waited for.

School Auxiliaries Discussed In Survey

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 7.—A discussion on some of the organizations in the school system is taken up by Supt. W. Ray Smith in his survey report in this installment. The high school newspaper and the Hi-Y club are the subjects discussed today.

The High School Newspaper.

"The Blue and White" was started last year, October 17, by launching an activity ticket campaign. This ticket was priced $2.50 and included entrance to all home football games, basketball games and a subscription to the newspaper. At the close of the campaign it was found that 629 students out of a total of 1250 were interested in this project. Next, the merchants were asked to advertise in the paper. They responded very well. Accordingly, at the end of the year the financial report revealed that the total amount of money collected from subscriptions was $1111.79. The amount received from advertising was $409.90 or a total of $1521.69. The newspaper cost averaged $44.50 per issue. Calculating the total disbursements $1181.67 and the money which we were unable to collect from advertisers and students who failed to meet their obligations, we closed the books in June with a favorable balance of $197.61.

Now the question which would likely arise in the citizen taxpayer's mind is this: Does this large sum of money expended really yield worthwhile results? In answer to this question let us explain the benefits from a high school publication.

The newspaper lends itself to vitalized class room work. From the English teachers' point of view newspaper writing encourages the student to develop a natural, direct easy style of expression. It teaches the child to be accurate and observant of the little daily school occurrences. It arouses the student interest in his fellow students. It allows the student to stray into the realms of science, history and literature with which he would never otherwise come into contact. Thru the medium of the editorial the student has an opportunity to state opinions. Through its vigorous persuasiveness as well as other departments, the school paper can foster real school spirit, influence, student thought and opinion, encourage and support clean sportsmanship, encourage worthy school activities, promote good scholarship. From the business point of view the newspaper is a medium for the students to learn real sportsmanship in selling advertisements. It encourages closer cooperation between merchant, townsfolk and the school. The financial end demands accurate bookkeeping and square business methods.

However, there is another side to the value of school pulbication. it is very difficult to get a large number of students to contribute articles voluntarily; therefore, only a few are benefited. A journalism class of 20 selected, interested students solve this problem. Also, a student publication demands close censorship and a definite policy or else the paper becomes a medium of sensationalism, prejudice and even libel. Generally speaking, student productions are poor in English, and in structure—therefore, many educators feel a newspaper is lost effort. That time should be devoted to literature and English composition. Furthermore, in a school which can support only one publication, many students and teachers think an annual is preferable.

Weighing the question of the newspaper in the balance, I am firmly convinced that if a doubter of its value could see the expression of genuine satisfaction and triumphant accomplishment that comes into the student's face as he glances over the front page and sees there his article in print—there would be no doubt of its sterling value in self-expression. Furthermore, if the public press is one of the most powerful national forces in this country in molding opinion and making for unity of thought and activity—why will not a high school newspaper perform the same service? It does change and build the morale of students and school. Thus, I sincerely hope that "The Blue and White" will not only become an "All American" newspaper but also an indispensable factor for good in our school life.

The Hi-Y.

Class discussion in some senior groups led to interest in the upbuilding of school spirit in its more constructive phases. While the idea for the formation of some organization was developing, delegations of interested boys attended Hi-Y conferences at New Brighton and Butler.

Plans were laid and the local club was able to affiliate with the national Hi-Y movement in the spring of 1931, thus becoming a part of an organization of over 4,600 Hi-Y clubs in the United States and Canada, enrolling more than 115,000 high school boy members in practically every state and province.

A Hi-Y club is a group of older high school boys who, having united in a common and challenging objective, are seeking for themselves and their fellow students the highest standards of life and conduct. Their expressed purpose is "to create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community high standards of Christian character."

This is the starting point and the goal of all true Hi-Y work.

This purpose commits the members to high standards of clean living, clean speech, clean athletics and clean scholarship, and leads to the foursquare development of the moral, mental, physican and social sides of school life.

The club is self-governing, under faculty guidance. The membership is not restricted and the group seeks to be inclusive rather than exclusive. As a rule, any purposeful boy who gives evidence of a whole-hearted desire to cooperate, is welcome. The club desires to strengthen the boys' church or Sunday school interests and is open Catholic, Protestant and Jew.

The club is starting with a small working organization, and, though is expects nothing revolutionary at first, it hopes to develop responsibility and spread a good influence throughout the school. It may be said, fairly, that interest in our organization led to the formation of the companion clubs—the Tri-Hi-Y for the older girl, and the Junior Hi-Y for the boys of the junior division. Obviously the greatest good for the school will grow from complete cooperation on the part of these three clubs, while friendly competition will, at the same time, keep them active and growing.

The Hi-Y club meets every Thursday evening in the music room at 7:30 in a friendly get-together for business, group discussion, and a varied program. The social side has included "feeds" and "hikes" and will be extended as conditions warrant.

Officers of the Hi-Y club are David Aiken, president; William Ifft, secretary, and Chester Wilson, treasurer. Paul V. Leyda and William Boyd are the faculty advisors. In the Junior Hi-Y, Mr. Preston is the sponsor.

Feel Like a New Person Almost Before You Know It

People have found out that newfangled ideas and notions don't break up colds. So millions have turned back to first principles and use what they know breaks one up in a jiffy. Even a "little" cold is too dangerous to trifle with.

The thing to do is to get Hill's Cascara Quinine at any drug store. Take two tablets now. Then follow directions on box. Drink lots of water, too—that all.

Soon you'll start to fell like a new person. Things will loosen up, your head will clear; aching go—you'll be back on the job with a wallop.

Get Hill's now. It is a scientific formula made to do one thing well: to knock a cold—not to cure a thousand ailments. Get your money back if it doesn't work with*twice the speed* of anything else you've ever tried.

NEW CASTLE DEFEATS UNION HIGH, 22-7

BENEFIT GAME FOR SCHOOL CHILDREN DRAWS GOOD CROWD

Union High Blue And White Eleven Surprises By Putting Up Stubborn Battle—Game Is Played Saturday Afternoon At Taggart Stadium—Kominic Tallies In Opening Quarter For New Castle—Jaworski On Cutback Runs 18 Yards For Union's Touchdown—Nick Uram Provides Thrill Of Game By Running 55 Yards For Touchdown—A Pass McIver To Ciccone Results In Final Touchdown For Senior High Machine—Red and Black Clad Gridder Scores Safety In Second Quarter.

Ideal football weather Saturday afternoon brought 1,000 or more fans to Taggart Stadium who watched the New Castle high school football team defeat a stubborn Union Township gridiron combination in a benefit game for the school children of the city and township. The final score was 22-7.

Although playing against bigger and more experienced foes, the Union high team gave the Coach Bridenbaugh machine plenty of opposition. From start to finish the game was exciting.

New Castle took the kickoff. Thomas being stopped on the 40 yard mark. J. Uram skirted his way thru the line for 3 yards. Kominic on two successful line bucks scored a first down. A double pass J. Uram to McIver around the right side of the line netted 15 yards and the second first down.

Kominic to J. Uram another double pass failed to gain any yardage. McIver took the ball on the next play and ran right tackle for a first down. J. Uram was stopped around left by Phillips. Kominic handed the ball to McIver who ran right guard for 8 yards. The ball rested on the 16 yard mark. Kominic made a first down before being dropped. J. Uram made 3 yards on the next play, running left tackle.

Kominic on the spinner play made 3 yards, bringing the ball to the 9 yard line. McIver carried the ball thru the line to the 5 yard line where he was stopped. Kominic was called back again and he registered the fifth consecutive first down for New Castle. Union was trying desperately to stop the march of their bigger opponents but their attempts were futile. McIver ran right tackle but made only 1 yard.

New Castle Scores

Kominic, Senior high's plunging fullback, took the ball on the next play and worked the ball thru the line for New Castle's first touchdown. Rambo hit the line for the extra point. The score, New Castle 7, Union 0.

Instead of getting discouraged the Union boys seemed to have more pep following the touchdown. The remainder of the quarter saw the New Castle team carrying the ball the majority of the time. The Red and Black gridders tried hard to make another march down the field but the Union line buckled up and held. The first quarter ended with New Castle in possession of the oval on the 33 yard line. Score, New Castle 7, Union 0.

Kominic on the first play of the second quarter made a first down. J. Uram received a bad pass from center and was tackled before he got back to pass on the next play but decided to run instead of passing and registered 4 yards.

A pass McIver to J. Uram failed as Union received the ball on downs. Monico started Union's rally by slicing two yards through the line. Augustyn followed by annexing 3 more yards off tackle. Jaworski took the ball thru center for Union's first down on the next play L. Augustyn carried the ball thru center for 3 more yards. Monico hurled a bullet like pass to Jaworski who took it successfully. This pass netted 15 yards and a first down.

L. Augustyn tried left tackle but netted no gain. Monico tried the line but he could not gain. L. Augustyn on the third down threw a well directed pass to Jaworski who snatched this one too. The heave gave Union its third straight first down. L. Augustyn gained 2 yards thru the line. Monico tried to break thru left end but was smeared. On the fourth down L. Augustyn tried a pass in the hope of scoring another first down. Mateja, Union left end took the pass and just made a first down.

The ball rested on the 21 yard line. Jaworski failed to gain. Monico on the second play gained but 1 yard. L. Augustyn passed but Mike DeCarbo, New Castle center intercepted on the 15 yard mark. Sotus ran out of bounds for no gain. Sotus had replaced Kominic prior to this play. James tried right guard but was tackled before he got started.

Sotus to James a double pass failed. DeCarbo booted to L. Augustyn on the next play. Augustyn brought the ball to the 42 before being nailed. A double pass Jaworski to Monico around left was good for 8 yards. L. Augustyn hit center for a first down. J. Augustyn made 2 more yards thru right tackle. Monico then ran left end for 3 more yards.

A double pass L. Augustyn to J. Augustyn around right registered another first down for Union.

Union Tallies

The ball was on the 18 yard line as New Castle called time out. Jaworski took the ball and on a cutback thru the center of the line ran the 18 yards for Union's touchdown. It was a play that caught the New Castle's boys unprepared. The Union line made a perfect hole for Jawoski. L. Augustyn hit the line for the extra point. Score, New Castle 7, Union 7.

J. Uram was hurt on the first play and had to be removed from the game. Nick the older took up the reign at quarterback. New Castle tried 3 plays but could not make a substantial gain and on the fourth down, DeCarbo made a perfect kick to the 3 yard line where Ciccone and Nocera, New Castle ends fell on the ball.

J. Augustyn got behind his own goal line to boot the ball but four New Castle men were on top of him before he had a chance to get rid of the ball. The ball bounded out of the end zone. The officials ruled it a safety for New Castle. Score, New Castle 9, Union 7.

At the start of the third period the New Castle boys came out strong and it was only a few minutes before the Senior high team tallied its second touchdown.

DeCarbo booted to J. Augustyn who was stopped on his own 17 yard mark. Monico and J. Augustyn failed to gain on two plays and J. Augustyn kicked to N. Uram. He fumbled and recovered on the 42 yard mark. Lane ran out of bounds for a gain of 2 yards. New Castle drew a five yard penalty for being off side. Kominic ran out of bounds for no gain. New Castle was forced to kick. DeCarbo kicked to L. Augustyn who returned to the 36.

Jaworski broke his way thru the line for 2 yards. After Monico failed to gain around left end Jaworski skirted the right side of the line for 6 yards. J. Augustyn on the next play kicked out of bounds on the 45 yard mark.

Uram Makes Long Run

Taking the ball from the hands of Kominic, Nick Uram executed a spectacular 55 yard scamper behind perfect interference for New Castle's second touchdown. Uram ran down to the 2 yard mark where he fell and slid the remaining distance over the goal line. It was a run that provided the biggest thrill of the afternoon. N. Uram tried a pass for the extra paint but this failed. Score New Castle 15, Union 7.

From here until the remainder of the third period it appeared as

Tulane Given Rose Bowl Bid

Tulane And Southern California Will Battle In New Year's Game On Coast

EXPERTS PICK TROJANS TO WIN

By COPELAND C. BURG
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—Whether or not any one has strange and foreign ideas as to claims that the University of Southern California football team is the best in this broad land, the Trojans get the mitt today for being brave, gallant and sporty.

They had a chance to play dear old Siwash in the Pasadena Rose Bowl game on New Year's day and after their victory could have shouted louder and louder that they were world champions. But instead they elected to meet Tulane, great of the great teams of 1931 in the south.

Tulane Is Good.

Acceptance of the invitation by Tulane means a grand and glorious ending to one of the finest seasons in football's history. More games, and generally better games, have been played this season than ever before and now the two outstanding squads are to come to grips in a championship setting. We would not think of naming the winner today, but off-hand and entirely out-of-pocket, we might lean to the Californians.

True enough the green wave of Tulane is undefeated this season, while little St. Mary's of Oakland bumped off the mighty Trojans in one of those things. Both squads played Washington State. Tulane won on Saturday from the Cougars 28 to 14, while the Trojans crushed the Wildcats of Pullman 38 to 6.

Navy Tops Penn.

Some eastern experts have rushed forward claiming Tulane is the national leader, entirely overlooking the Trojan's defeat of Notre Dame, when the champion Irish were at the top of their game. Tulane beat Georgia, which previously thumped Yale, the eastern leader, but then every invader fattens scoring records on the eastern prides.

The newest proof of the weakness of the east came Saturday when Chick Meehan's vulnerable Violets of New York University collapsed 13 to 0 before Tennessee.

Navy surprised with a sparkling 6 to 0 over Penn, serving notice that the Army-Navy game in Yankee Stadium here this coming Saturday will not be any bed of straw for the West Point mule.

Kavel And Sample Co-Captains For Tech Grid Team

Steffen Fails To Enlarge On Retirement Report—Tech Fullback Collapses

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 7.—George Kavel, right halfback and Bill Sample left guard, were named co-captains of the 1932 Carnegie Tech football team at the annual banquet given the squad.

Meanwhile, devotees of the game on the Tartan campus today were speculating over the future action of Judge Walter Steffen, Carnegie coach who at the banquet did not make his expected decision to retire as head coach. Fans in the Pittsburgh district were hopeful that his silence meant another season with the Tech squad in 1932.

Elmer Vorderburg, Tartan fullback, who collapsed at the football banquet, was reported resting comfortably at the Presbyterian Hospital. Dr. W. L. Marks, team physicain, ordered him to the hospital. He was believed to have been affected by an injured knee, suffered in the charity tilt with Duquesne Saturday, and the heat of the dining hall.

Referee Explains Safety Score At Game Saturday

Rugh Tells Why Score Was Safety Instead Of Touchdown

Many fans at the New Castle-Union game Saturday afternoon were puzzled why New Castle was credited with a safety in the second period, when they blocked a kick in back of the Union goal line. The reasoin was that the ball rolled out of the end zone by inches and thus could not be classed as a touchdown.

Referee James A. Rugh explained the ruling after the game, saying that while it may have looked like a touchdown, from some parts of the stands, actually, the ball rolled out of the end zone.

From the press box it looked as though J. Augustyn the kicker for Union, had pulled a smart piece of football. As the kick was blocked the ball fell at his feet. He tried to recover but the ball started to roll away and it appeared as though he kicked it out of the end zone, saving a possible five points against his team.

Titan Court Team To Play This Saturday

Oppose Pennzoil Team On Home Court December 12

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Dec. 7.—Coach John Lawther's Westminster College basketball team will get its first taste of competition on the home floor this Saturday evening, when the strong Pennzoil team of Oil City will provide the opposition.

On this team will be found a number of former college stars well known in this section. Kenneth Delahunty, former Westminster star forward, leading scorer and all-conference player for two seasons, will be at guard for the Pennzoil team. Delahunty is now coach of the Sandy Lake high school athletic teams.

"Ganzy" Benedict, former Duquesne University star, will be at one forward for Pennzoil. Snyder, captain of the Brown University team last winter and the leading scorer in the Eastern Intercollegiate League, will also be on the team. Cleves, former University of Virginia player, is another star on the Pennzoil roster. Other players include Shusko and Tarr, independent players, and Porter and Hughes, former Oil City and Franklin high school stars.

The Pennzoil team, one of the strongest independent teams in the section, will be favored to win over the Titans Saturday night. Because of the ability and experience of the visitors, they will be given a large margin over the Titans, the first time that such a situation has been known for Westminster floor teams in six seasons.

Lawther has a large group of freshmen competing for positions on the team but the old men on the squad have exhibited the best brand of ball to date. Not one of the first year men has shown anything like the ability of Brownlee and Williams at center, Captain Rice and Blaner at guard and Kocheran, Hamas, Newton and Siljander at forward.

The loss of Fisher, guard; Douglass, forward; Arthurs, center; Considine, forward, and Bobby, forward, from last year's squad, has made quite a problem, for there are few substitutes except first year men available. Among the first year students, Sweeney, Youngstown; Young, Southard, and Heeley, Freeport, L. I.; Hunneke, Baldwin, L. I.; Wilhelm, Kittanning; Helmick, Uniontown, and Leyshock, Farrell, look best.

A series of pre-season games to be played in December will be arranged for the team. Announcement of these contests will be made some time this week.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Tulane remains the only undefeated major football eleven and will play Southern California in the Rose bowl, at Pasadena, New Year's day. A Tulane victory in that annual classic ought to give Coach Bernie Bierman's outfit the national title without much dispute.

Lawrence Mitchelltree, Ralph Ayres and Lloyd (Dead Eye Dick) Mitchelltree of Pulaski and Harry Campbell, Harlansburg, have returned from Marionville with deer. Each got a doe excepting Lloyd who shot an eight point buck and it has a nice rack.

Lloyd gave a description of how he picked out this certain buck to those who watch him skin it. "Dead Eye Dick" as he is known to the mountaineers said: "I let a couple go by until this fellow came along.

"He had such a nice rack I thought it time for me to raise my trusty rifle. Down he came. The shot got the buck in the eye. The rack was measured and there isn't a half inch variation between the points. It weighked about 170 pounds."

Officials of the Owen D. Young committee on relief resources have estimated that football games played for charity has raised $210,000 to the funds for unemployment relief. New Castle High and Union performed their bit for the local committee Saturday.

Three good fights are scheduled for this week as follows: Battling Battalino vs Al Singer, New York; Friday, Lou Broullard vs Paul Pirrone, Cleveland, Tuesday and Midget Wolgast vs Canto Robleto.

Bessemer To Play Alumni

Tuesday Night's Game To Be Followed By Mt. Jackson Clash

FOUR PLAYERS ARE SIX FEET TALL

BESSEMER, Dec. 7.—Coach Frederick's Bessemer high school basketball team will open the season Tuesday night when they play the Alumni. And when the high floormen trot out the fans will see an aggregation of giants as four of them stand six feet tall and one is six feet three and one half inches tall.

The latter is De Arment and the boys who stand six feet are Afric, one of last season's letter men and two newcomers who look good, namely, Seltzer and Nelson. The smallest chap is Johnson, 5 feet eight inches while Stanley, a letterman, Plesnick and Gorenz are 5 feet 8 1-2 inches and Swanson stands under the beam at 5 feet 11 inches.

With this array of talent, Coach Fredericks believes that the team this season will excel that of last year. The formal season will commence Friday night when Bessemer will tackle Mount Jackson at Mount Jackson.

Besides the usual topics of trades in players and changes in rules there were four subjects of considerable importance scheduled to come up tomorrow and the succeeding two days. Salary cuts promises to be a moot question, also the question of charging for radio privileges at ball parks, limiting of umpires to two a game, and curtailing the moving up of games for double headers.

Separate sessions of the American and National leagues will be held Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, with the joint meeting of the two leagues scheduled for Tuesday.

The game was a defensive exhibition of the Duke's strength who four times halted the Tech scoring advance. When Tech took to the air, the Dukes proved themselves equal to the occasion in this department of the game, also.

though the Union high team was tiring. The New Castle backs were going thru the line for good gains but at a critical moment the Unionites apparently came to life and held. The third quarter ended with Union in possession of the pigskin on the 32 yard mark. Score, New Castle 15, Union 7.

During the earlier part of the fourth quarter, Union played New Castle to even terms until the latter part of the quarter when New Castle was having little difficulty breaking thru the line. This was because the Union team was badly battered and tired. DeCarbo kicked to L. Augustyn who was tackled on the 38. Monico failed to gain thru center. L. Augustyn passed on the next play but Mike DeCarbo, New Castle center intercepted. Lane made 6 yards thru right tackle. Lane replaced McIver in the third period. McIver was sent in the game in place of N. Uram.

McIver tried a pass but it failed. Kominic to McIver a double pass netted a first down. This play brought the ball to the 22 yard chalk mark. Mateja replaced Lannigan Union. Sotus replaced Kiminic for New Castle. Sotus handed McIver the ball on the next play. McIver carried the oval to the 10 where he was tackled. Sotus plunged center for 5 more yards. Lane made no gain. Sotus plunged to the 4 yard mark.

On the fourth down, Union demonstrated holding ability by checking Sotus who tried the line in the hope of scoring Union's ball on downs on the two yard line. Jaworski behind his goal line kicked to McIver on the 30. McIver returned to the 19 yard mark. Line on the next play made 6 yards on an end run around right.

Ciccone Tallies

McIver hurled a short pass to Ciccone who caught the ball on the 2 yard mark and ran the remaining short distance for the final touchdown of the game. DeCarbo place kicked successfully between the posts for the extra point. With but a minute left to play both coaches Boyd of Union and Bridenbaugh of New Castle injected a number of second and third string men in the game. The final score was New Castle 22, Union 7.

Shows Up Well

Coach David Morgan Boyd's, Class B county champs showed up well against the more experienced New Castle team. Despite the fact that the Scotland Lane team lost, it looked impressive and must be given ample credit. The New Castle gridders following the game exclaimed that Union proved a "tough foe." New Castle, however was too good for Union.

For Union the playing of J. Augustyn, Jaworski and Monico in the backfield was outstanding. These boys time and again broke through the line for substantial gains. They played excellent football. On the line the work of the entire wall was good. Pitted against a heavier line like that of New Castle, these Unionites gave their opponents plenty of trouble.

For New Castle the work of J. Uram and Kominic was noticeable. Ciccone, DeCarbo and Thomas were outstanding on the line. The officials, James Rugh who acted as referee, Sam Richards who umpired, Dave Hoskins who was the headlinesman and Ray Nolte who was field judge performed their work like professionals.

The entire proceeds realized from this game will be turned over to the relief committee which will aid the different school children in the city and township who need help. The committee in charge wishes to thank all those who helped to make the benfit game a success.

The summary:

New Castle 22		Union 7
Ciccone	L E	Mateja
Crisci	L T	Dec
H. Workman	L G	Sniezek
DeCarbo	C	Phillips
Thomas	R G	Allen
Askounes	R T	Georgacz
Nocera	R E	Davis
J. Uram	Q B	L. Augustyn
McIver	L H	J. Augustyn
Rambo	R	Monico

Score by periods:

New Castle	7	2	6	7	22
Union	0	7	0	0	7

Advance Yule Rush Taxes Local Parcel Post Mail; See Holiday Work Coming

Today's Truck Cargo Shows Gain Over Any Day In Past Few Months

RECEIPTS EXCEED RECORDS FOR '30

With today's blustery winter weather came one of the busiest work days the parcel post division of the city's post office has experienced for a long time. There was a holiday atmosphere prevailing, forcing the postal force to make up its mind that the pre-Christmas rush was beginning.

While the heavy rush days still are several weeks off, the earlier holiday mailing, augmenting the ordinarily busy Monday, kept the delivery section on its toes from early morning until early this afternoon. The shipments had grown lighter as evening neared.

Postmaster Edwin W. Crawford reported that receipts for the first five December days showed a slight increase over the same period for 1930.

"We are anticipating the usual heavy Christmas," Mr. Crawford announced. "Preparations are being made for it."

Nearly 150 Applicants

Out of the 146 single and married applicants who have applied to the post office for work during the holidays, only 30 or 40 can be provided jobs. Men whose names are on the office's permanent eligibility list will under postal rules and regulations receive first preference. Ex-soldiers with families will then be called for the remaining jobs.

Superintendent of Mails Richard Steen is busily engaged shaping the holiday arrangements, it was announced. He plans to place the extra men to work when the rush grows too burdensome for the office's regular force, a few days before Christmas.

Last year, officials recalled, the pre-Christmas rush immediately prior to the holiday was lighter on the average than during other years, with the exception of the 22nd, when all local receipt figures were shattered by the tremendous business. Receipts totalled $3,119.80 that day.

Foreign Mails Light.

Foreign mailing this year has not measured up to the record set before other Christmas holidays, it was explained. However, gift parcels can still be placed in the mails for delivery to a number of lands across the sea before the yuletide.

Arranging to take care of the mistakes which patrons make, quite unintentionally, is a task which every postoffice must perform. The local must, as well.

Mailers drop into the mail shutes tinsel cards which under the postal laws are prohibited; they seal package coverings with Christmas seals; they write parcel addresses in pencil instead of in pen and ink, and, as so many times, they stick a holiday greeting seal in the upper right hand corner of an envelope where only a United States postage stamp should be.

However, officials anticipate the cooperation of local patrons and promise that in return will be given the swiftest dispatch of their parcels. Mistakes in wrapping, stamping or in addresses often times prove annoying and cause delay.

At the postoffice letter and package drops a sorter will separate mail before it is deposited this year, as has been the practice for several seasons. Patrons should sort their mail, separating it into city and outgoing classes and facing-up all the letters. "Face-up" means that all stamps top each other, and the canceling machine can operate without congestion.

Trucks Await Call.

When the demand comes, two auxiliary parcel post trucks of the office will be added to the four regulars now conveying the early rush mail.

Whatever they mail, large or small, local officials care not, and neither do they care when, so it's reasonably early. They hope that patrons realize their limits in delivering gifts on time, and fully expect to cooperate with the full force of the regular and auxiliary force's energy.

ASKS CITY TO ASSIGN WHITE

Greer Asks City To Instruct White To Defend Him At Hearing

City Controller Phil G. Greer today addressed a communication to council which convened in the municipal building requesting the council to authorize Solicitor Robert White to defend him in the writ of mandamus brought by attorneys for C. S. Mills, fireman, requesting the controller to sign warrants or show cause why he should not, for salary which Mills claims as a "city fireman". The writ is returnable on December 14 in Lawrence county court.

Mills was named a city fireman at a session of cuncil. According to the city solicitor's advice he was named illegally, according to civil service rules. Attorneys for Mills take exception to the fact that Greer has refused to honor warrants.

The legality of his election as a city fireman, it is anticipated, will be settled when the hearing is held. If an adverse decision should be given it is reported in City Hall that Mills can quit and the council, if disposed, can pay him his salary, as the work actually has been performed, but he cannot continue as a fireman.

Council will act on Greer's communication Friday.

Josette Laval was impressed by America's high state of civilization. She didn't get to see a football game.

Troop At Wampum Celebrates Tenth Anniversary Sunday

Rev. G. S. Bennett Delivers Interesting Address At Wampum Sunday Evening

Rev. J. Greer Bingham Compliments Troop—Many Troops Attend Affair

Sunday evening in the Wampum Presbyterian church Wampum troop 1 celebrated its 10th anniversary. A big crowd attended the affair. Rev. J. Greer Bingham, chairman of the Wampum organization, was assisted by Rev. G. S. Bennett, second council vice president.; Commissioner Ralph Davis, District Commissioner Jack Pearson and Scout Executive H. G. Horton.

Several county troops were present: troops 15, 17 and 55 of New Castle were well represented, as were West Pittsburg 1, Ellwood 1, 7, 8 and 14. A number of scoutmasters, assistants and troop committeemen, were also in attendance.

Earle Herbert, former scoutmaster of Wampum 1, briefly reviewed the history of the troop since its origin. The roll call then took place. The Scouts and scouters held a Scout opening ceremony at the start of the event.

Rev. Bennett Speaks

Rev. G. S. Bennett then delivered a short address in which he stressed three reasons why he believed the Boy Scout movement was worth while in the lives of the youth of the world today. He gave worthwhile illustrations of the value of the various qualities mentioned in his address. He made a deep impression on the minds of the audience.

Rev. Bingham also spoke. He complimented the Wampum organization for its 10-year record. He then welcomed the visiting Scouts and scouters and ended by saying that he hoped the audience might be present at the 20th anniversary of the troop.

It was a fitting tribute to an organization which has compiled such an enviable record.

HAS CATFISH PET

(International News Service)

LANCASTER, Pa., Dec. 7.—S. E. Fraim, local aviator and sporting enthusiast, is displaying a new pet, a three-inch catfish, which he found in the manifold of his speed boat.

Fraim was overhauling the motor of his boat, prior to storing it away for the winter, when the fish fell out of the manifold.

Fraim believes the fish was able to live because of water in the jacket around the manifold. Entrance to the manifold is through a half-inch opening where exhaust gases are discharged.

He has named the pet "Oscar."

Deep snows are reported in Idaho. But since Senator Borah is in Washington it can't be his fault.—The Roanoke Times.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Stocks Start Upward As Congress Convenes

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—Saturday's closing spurt in the industrial and railroad stocks was carried into the first period today. In expectation of important constructive action by the new Congress, particularly in relieving the railroads and building industries of present financial embarrassments, railroad stocks and bonds made further recovery.

For the first time in more than a week bonds of the Nickel Plate, Missouri Pacific and other systems which have been under severe pressure, rallied and recovered a few points of their lost ground. German government bonds moved ahead an additional point despite a further 20-point drop in the mark to 23 cents. The Scandinavian exchanges were weak at the opening and the Canadian dollar dipped to a new low at 84½ cents in New York funds.

The pool in Auburn Auto carried their fight to the bears in a new 7-point rise to 126½. General Motors rose fractionally on report of a very favorable public reception of the new Chevrolet models and a further speeding up of the plants. American Can and American Telephone moved up about a point each and J. I. Case was up 1 3-4.

With important developments pending in German reparations and bank loans; legislation at home and negotiations under way in railroad wage scales, the stock market was inclined to mark time. The active stocks in the second hour churned around in an extremely narrow price range, with professionals accounting for the bulk of the activity on the big board. Standard Oil of New Jersey was freely sold and fell off to 13 1-4 on rumors of a possible reduction or omission of the "regular extra" dividend of 25 cents a share.

Wheat and cotton were steady and call money unchanged at 2½ per cent.

PLANTING REDWOODS

(International News Service)

RED BLUFF, Calif.—An attempt to start a grove of redwood trees in the Lassen national forest, has been made with the planting of 500 three-year-old redwoods from the forest service nursery at Susanville in two burned areas in the Mineral district. If these plantings prove successful, other areas will be planted each year, it was announced. The reforestration program now being carried out in the forest by W. J. Brokenshire, district ranger, also calls for the planting of 17,000 Jeffrey and yellow pines during the past season.

Prompt Work Saves Workman Residence

Fire, Discovered In Attic Put Out With Aid Of New Bedford Fire Department

Fire, supposed to have started from a defective flue, damaged the house of William Workman, near New Bedford, early this morning. When Mr. Workman got up this morning he found that the fire, which he had covered had gone out. Shortly after he started it up, Mr. Workman detected the odor of smoke in the house, and the attic was found to be on fire.

The New Bedford fire department was summoned by telephone and responded promptly. Neighbors came at the same time and fortunately the house was saved, although considerable damage was done in the attic.

ELKS' MEMORIAL SERVICE SUNDAY

phetic arts. He dwelt longer on the things that abide, such as faith, hope and love.

"We live in a faith world" he continued. "If we choose to be cynical, the world is cynical: if we are kind-hearted, the world is kind-hearted to us, and if we're cruel, the world answers us back in terms of cruelty.

"It's a trustworthy world, a world that answers us back.

"Faith tells a man to plant his seed, and flowers and plants spring forth: faith tells a miner to sink his shaft, and coal can be dug: faith tells an aviator to spread his wings, and he flies and faith tells a banker to make his investment, then he makes his return."

Hope was described by Dr. Kerr as something which we need more than anything else. We hope that the future holds something for us. We have a living hope that lays hold of the future.

"We hear bankers speaking of frozen assets; financiers speak of frozen confidence, and just as truly, preachers might speak of frozen hopes sometimes," Dr. Kerr said. "Our hopes must not grow cold."

Love was pictured as a sacrifice. We must consecrate ourselves to nobler values, higher ideals, the speaker said. We hallow the memories of those brother Elks who have gone on before, and it recalls tonight the things in life that abide. "These things may be held" concluded Dr. Kerr "by those who love us in everlasting remembrance."

Kin At Service

Dr. Kerr's touching Memorial message was heard by the mothers, fathers, wives and children of many who Elkdom once knew. Fitting ritual services came both at the beginning and the close.

Exalted Ruler Royer H. Updegraff sat in the presiding chair, with Dr. Kerr to his right. In other official chairs sat Walter E. DeArment, acting esquire for another Elk; Esteemed Leading Knight John F. Hite; Loyal Knight Edward J. Ryan; Lecturing Knight Roy Hughes and Chaplain John Woods. Secretary Jacob Cosel and Treasurer George Thomas occupied other chairs nearby them.

With customary lodge dignity, Exalted Ruler Updegraff tapped the gavel that brought the lodge in session. The Emery orchestra had concluded the playing of the march, "Anzacs." The audience rose and sang "America."

A special selection, "Reverie" was then played by the orchestra group, with Miss Leta Johns as pianist.

Acting Esquire DeArment then officially opened the Memorial service at the request of the exalted ruler. He explained the center table, flag bedecked to represent charity, and holding a Bible as a symbol of justice and Elk antlers symbolical of protection, the symbol of the order.

Chaplain Woods offered prayer.

Then a special quartet, consisting of George Anthony, Arthur Thomas, William D. Williams and Harry Evans, sang "Holy Night Within This Breast," Miss Jessie Mockel accompanied.

More impressive services followed the quartet number, when the room was darkened and a light in the lodgeroom clock turned on. Slowly, eleven gongs peeled out and Acting Esquire DeArment called them, symbolical of the Elks tribute to their dead. The clock hands were stopped at 11.

Wreath Is Lighted

Secretary Cosel read aloud the names of the twelve departed Elks of the past year, and simultaneously the bulbs in an electrical mourning wreath hanging on the Elk antlers overhead the exalted ruler's chair were lighted. As a name was read, the light flashed on.

Bouquets of forget-me-nots amaranth and ivy were laid on the center table where the flag, Bible and antlers were. An Elk is never forgotten, the amaranth typifies the love and memory that never fades and the ivy typifies the recollections of members that cling forever.

The Elks rose as their officers performed the ritual.

Another selection, "Serenade" was played by the orchestra, the quartet sang "The Sweet Bye-and-Bye" and George Anthony and Harry Evans favored with a duet, "The Long Night Watch."

When the closing ceremonies had been conducted, the audience rose and with the members sang two verses of the "Star Spangled Banner." The chaplain, Mr. Woods, offered the benediction.

Elks who have died since the Memorial service of 1930, whose names were read aloud last night, were:

Joseph N. Glass, John J. Emes, Milton Frew, Ira J. McAnlis, Albert W. Longacre, Dr. Harry W. Wilson, Burr D. Holmes, John L. Herbold, Martin J. Gibbons, Harvey E. McGoun, Samuel B. Winternitz and Fred G. Baker.

Boy Scouts of the Elks troop served as ushers at the service.

It may not be significant, but you'll notice that most of the football teams are named after dumb animals.

DEMOCRATS ELECT SPEAKER OF HOUSE AT OPENING SESSION

date and dignified than the house.

The Democrats, now in control of the house after thirteen lean years, were in a jovial mood. While the roll-call droned along, they engaged in much hilarity and good-natured jibes at their Republican brethern across the aisle. The atmospheres was much soberer on the Republican side, where the appreciation of their defeat seemed to rest heavily upon them.

Galleries were crowded in both chambers.

Badly Divided

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—A new and badly divided congress assembled here today to grapple with an array of issues as grave and as critical as any since the World War.

Unemployed is widespread, the credit situation throughout the country has been weakened by the hammering of economic forces during two years of depression, the railroads are in a weakened position, federal finances are sick—and in the face of all this taxes must be materially increased.

Unusual Conditions

Seldom, if ever, has the congress met under more unusual conditions.

There is a Republican president in the White House, the House of Representatives is controlled by Democrats, and the senate is controlled by neither party. Thus there is a division of control unprecedented in history.

The fact that the country is on the eve of a presidential election, with all of the political skirmishing that it entails, only adds to the confusion of the general situation.

Both houses will devote themselves today to organization. The Democroats assume control of the house for the first time in thirteen years, to elect "Jack" Garner of Texas, as speaker, and oust the Republicans from their coveted chairmanships and cosy offices which they have occupied since the war.

Annual Message Tuesday

In the senate, the Republicans will retain their paper organization by a single vote and retain a control that is theoretical rather than actual. Real control remains vested in the Democrats and a dozen or so Republican insurgents who can upset the administration anytime they decide to get together.

President Hoover's annual message on "The state of the nation" will be delivered to both houses tomorrow. It is expected to strike a somber note, in keeping with the atmosphere under which the 72nd Congress assembles.

Republican leaders were given an outline of the President's recommendations over the week-end. They were not called in, however, until Mr. Hoover had his message in completed form. Varying the usual custom, the President did not consult them in the preparation of the document, which fact caused considerable tongue-wagging on Capitol Hill.

Congress Excited

It is a lengthy message, covering a wide range of subjects. Members of congress, particularly the Democrats, await it with unusual interest and anticipation, for their own program is dependent to a considerable degree upon the nature of Mr. Hoover's proposals.

On Wednesday, Mr. Hoover will transmit the budget to congress, accompanying it with a message which will give a full, if not pleasant, picture of federal finances. The treasury deficit for the current fiscal year will be more than $2,000,000,000 and it may reach the enormous figures of $3,000,000,000. Never in peace-time have those figures been approached.

The finance picture will leave no doubt that taxes must be materially increased all along the line—a prospect that industry and business already hard-hit by two years of depression can view with dismay.

Debt Moratorium

Later in the week, probably Thursday, Mr. Hoover plans to lay before congress the international debt moratorium arranged last June and ask its approval. This approval will be forthcoming, but only after some skirmishing and some sharp criticism from those who believe the moratorium is the opening wedge to war debt cancellation.

Thereafter, congress can settle down to the long grind of the session, which is expected to continue right up to the moment the members must leave their desks and hurry into the national political conventions.

It will be an exciting, turbulent and stormy session. The Democrats are expected to evolve their own program and fight for it quite irrespective of what the White House has to offer.

On the Republican side there is division and gloom. In both senate and house the Republican forces are split into factions.

Much history will be made between now and next June. But its character cannot be predicted, for the 72d Congress is unpredictable.

New York Law Is Unconstitutional Is Court Ruling

New York City Liable To Tax Refunds Of $26,000,000 On Taxation Of National Bank Series

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—The Supreme court today held unconstitutional the New York law for taxation of national bank shares from 1923 to 1926, thus making New York City liable for refunds and penalties totaling $26,000,000 and other New York cities liable for from $4,000,000 to $5,000,000 refunds.

The case was appealed by Andrew B. Keating, receiver of taxes of New York City from the U. S. Circuit court, which was affirmed.

PRICE OF MILK IS REDUCED HERE

Reduction Of Two Cents Is Made—Wholesale Price Is Also Cut

At a meeting of New Castle Dairymen held this morning the price of milk was reduced from eleven cents per quart to nine cents per quart.

Reduction in the price of cream was also made proportionately, the new prices announced on cream being 16 cents per half pint for coffee cream and 23 cents per half pint for whipping cream.

The reduction in prices here followed a meeting in Pittsburgh Saturday, when one of the leading milk distributors in the Western Pennsylvania area met with the Dairyman's Cooperative Sales, and established a price of nine cents per quart for milk.

The wholesale price to the milk producers was reduced proportionately, it was stated.

Dealers who participated in the meeting held here this morning were: Lingerlight Dairy Co., Sylvester's Dairy, Fairfield Dairy, Boyd Dairy Co., Reick-McJunkin Dairy Co., Chapman's Lairy, Moser & McConaghy, McCombs Dairy and Joe Valentino.

BEGIN CHOOSING OF JURY IN CASE OF HARRY POWERS

court, the judge asked if the defense was ready to proceed.

"We are not ready but we have no objection to proceeding," said J. Ed Law, defense counsel.

In accordance with the Harrison county legal procedure, a bloc of twenty jurors was "struck" from the panel.

They took their place in the jury box, Judge Southern and defense counsel Law questioned each.

Four were excused because they had formed definite opinions in connection with the murder of Mrs. Lemke, Mrs. Asta Eicher, of Park Ridge, Ill., and the latter's three children.

The defendant sat with his back to the audience. He lolled nonchalantly beside his lawyer, frequently whispering suggestions for questioning prospective jurors.

Jurors Questioned.

One of these questions was:

"Did you read in the newspapers of the confession made by the defendant?"

Another query which Powers had his counsel ask was:

"Did you go to the morgue and see the bodies of the dead women and children?"

Talesmen asked by Counsel Law concerning what folks thought of the guilt or innocence of Powers, replied that opinion was decidedly against the defendant.

"Were you in the mob which stormed the county jail in September?"

(Powers was spirited away to Moundsville from the jail when a crowd tried to lynch him Sept. 19.)

Another question was:

"Did you ever hear the story being sold in town entitled 'The Murder at Quiet Dell'?"

Defense counsel referred to a pamphlet entitled "Love Secrets of Bluebeard" on sale in Clarksburg. It is a dramatic record of the Powers case.

Counsel Law also kept hammering away on the attempted lynching of Powers.

"Did you hear people shouting that night— 'Hanging is too good for him'?" he asked.

One talesman, in swer to the query, said that the Powers case was discussed in Sunday school. He is a Sunday school teacher.

The wife and sister-in-law of Powers, Mrs. Luella Powers and Eva Belle Strother, were not in evidence in the theatre courtroom. But it was reported they had slipped into rear seats in the balcony.

"I don't know where they are," said Powers, "but I hope they are not here."

Law turned next to whether the talesmen had visited the Powers murder garage in Quiet Dell.

The garage site had been operated as an amusement park and admision charged until a second sortie by masked vigilantes ended the venture.

Mrs. Powers and her sister own the property.

Mr. and Mrs. Flemming of Northboro, Mass., brother-in-law and sister of Mrs. Lemke, arrived.

They were ushered to the section on the right side of the stage reserved for witnesses.

It was Mrs. Fleming who identified the body here of her sister.

She has a civil suit pending against Powers, his wife and sister to recover $12,000 to $14,000 cash, bonds and jewels, which Mrs. Lemke had in her possession when she left Northboro with Powers.

A fifth talesman was excused.

Nathan Richards, farmer said:

"I have heard right smart about the case and have reached a conclusion as to the guilt of some person."

Powers was showing poor public form in his role of super-villian. He sat at counsel table with his back squarely to the audience. He appeared bored with the routine after a time. His eyes kept studying the quiet main street scene depicted on the back-drop behind the judge's bench.

A luncheon recess was declared.

Three Held As Counterfeiters

Dope Peddling Ring Also Believed Broken Up With Arrest In Westmoreland County

(International News Service)

GREENSBURG, Pa., Dec. 7.—Smashing of a counterfeiting and dope peddling ring operating through Fayette county and adjacent territory was believed achieved by state police with the arrest of three men today at McCance, Westmoreland county.

Those arrested were Guy Petrarca, 45, of McCance, Luigi Rosso, alias Antone Fusilli, 35, of Tamaqua, Pa., and New York City and Fred Cecchine, 23, of Wilpen, Pa.

The three were captured by troopers at the home of Petrarca, where a quantity of morphine and alleged spurious currency was reported to have been found by the police.

All three, troopers said, are charged with counterfeiting and passing fake bills at Union and other Fayette county points and will be turned over to Federal authorities.

Jap Ultimatum Given Chinese Reported Today

Report Japanese Demand Immediate Retirement Of Troops South Of Great Wall

FOREIGN OFFICE IS IN DARKNESS

By JOHN GOETTE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PEIPING, Dec. 7.—The Chinese minister to Tokyo telegraphed to Marshal Chang, Hsueh-Liang tonight an unconfirmed report that General Honjo, Japanese military commander in Manchuria, had issued an ultimatum demanding the immediate retirement of Chinese forces south of the great wall.

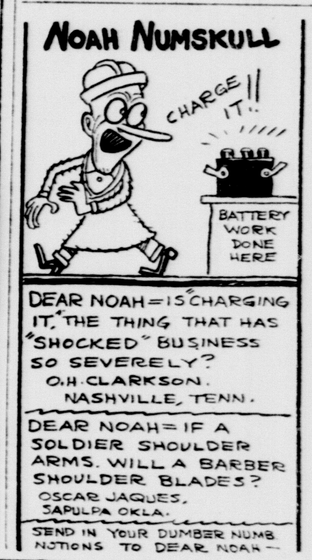

News of the ultimatum was published in the Japanese press, and included a supposed demand by General Honjo that the civilian officials attached to Marshal Chang's provisional government at Chinchow also withdraw to Shanhaikwan, at the eastern end of the great wall.

Are in Darkness

The Japanese foreign office professed to be in complete darkness as to Honjo's immediate intentions, the Chinese minister added, Marshal Chang's headquarters here has no confirmation of the ultimatum.

The information, however, coincided with reports from neutral military attaches at Chinchow that the Japanese were preparing to resume their drive against the Chinese in that area within a few days.

Prohibition Fight Is Renewed In Congress

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—The prohibition fight was renewed with a flourish in the 72nd Congress today as bills poured into both senate and house for repeal of the 18th Amendment or modification of the Volstead Act.

Members leading the anti-prohibition movement presented bills even before congress formally convened, while others disclosed their intention to introduce measures during the week.

100 Bills

Fully 100 bills affecting prohibition will be before both houses, it was disclosed in a canvass of congressional offices.

The wets launched their fight earlier than usual as a result of the decision on both Democrats and Republicans in the house to modify rules. Under the proposed changes the wet leaders claim they are assured of a direct vote on the prohibition issue.

One of the first measures offered is the referendum resolution sponsored by the Women's Organization for Prohibition Reform. It calls for direct repeal of the 18th Amendment, but its preamable is framed to show that the re-submission to the states is intended as a referendum on the liquor question.

A similar measure calling for re-submission and legalization of beer was to be proposed in the senate by Sen. Bingham (R) of Connecticut.

Wide Variety

Because of the wide variety of proposals for modification of national prohibition, Rep. Linthicum (D) of Maryland, chairman of the "wet bloc" in the house, planned to hold a meeting this week to agree upon a program.

Dr. Edwin C. Dinwiddie, executive officer of the board of strategy of the major dry organizations, in a forecast of congressional attitude, declared no wet measure would pass either house. The drys, he declared, will defeat all proposals to cripple enforcement by cutting down necessary appropriations.
